Dem Senator Says Foreign Policy Debate Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—What's a bewildered Democratic politician to do?

Secretary of State Dulles says it's all right for administration opponents to debate the "basic problems" of foreign policy. But he finds it highly undesirable for them to talk in the campaign about "current aspects" of that policy.

President Eisenhower says the "basic parts" of U.S. foreign policy have been standing on their own feet for a long time. But he does not decry "intelligent questioning and criticism" of the tough daily decisions needed to carry out that policy.

Faced with this seeming contradiction, Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla) said today Democrats will continue to discuss "matters of such vital importance to the nation that decisions on them cannot be left to two men alone—Eisenhower and Dulles."

From the other side of the political fence, Sen. Thruston B. Morton (R-Ky) said in a separate interview there is room for campaign debate on international affairs "only if the discussion is constructive and it is for the purpose of keeping the electorate informde."

In San Francisco, Vice President Nixon told a news conference responsible Republicans must answer Democratic criticisms, even if the attacks appear ridiculous. Otherwise, he said, the Republican party will go down to defeat.

He said Eisenhower's stand is a proper one for a president, but "those of us who have the responsibility for carrying the weight of the campaign" should speak up in defense of the administration.

At the time Eisenhower was telling his news conference Wednesday that he deplores injection of foreign policy into the campaign, the Republican National Committee had in the mails a new blast against Democrats.

The GOP committee said that Dean Acheson, former secretary of state, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler and Senators Wayne Morse (D-Ore), Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) and Smathers "have been preaching appeasement, retreat and surrender over the matter of Quemoy and Matsu."

"They want to substitute the policy which led to Korea for the firm policy of this administration which has brought a cease-fire to the Formosa Strait, with honor retained," the GOP committee said.

Eisenhower did not reply directly to a question as to whether he thought it fair to use the term appeasement for those who opposed his Quemoy policies.

Instead, he said he had spoken out against appeasement as others had years ago. He added that "when you give way to force and readjust yourself and go back through force, it can't be anything else but appeasement."

Smathers, who heads the Democratic Senatoral Capaign Committee, said he would not describe as appeasers those who discuss policy moves that may mean the difference between peace and war.

"I am strongly in favor of a bipartisan foreign policy program but this administration has not seen fit to consult with Democratic leaders before making its decisions," Smathers said.

Tunis Chief Joins West

Arab Republic Hit By Angry Bourguiba

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourguiba defiantly threw in his lot with the West today in a bitter attack on the United Arab Republic. He broke diplomatic relations with the U.A.R. Wednesday.

"Yes, I am Western," Bourguiba declared in a speech to the Tunisian Constituent Assembly explaining his move, "and I will remain so."

The president of the young North African republic did not mention President Nasser by name, but he ripped into Nasser policies. Bourguiba bluntly said the Egyptians had collaborated in an assassination plot against him.

"The primary enemy, one has the habit of saying, is Israel," Bourguiba said. "However, why is it that this state (Israel) is quiet while the Arabs are killing one another."

Bourguiba professed confidence in the outcome of this test of strength between him and Nasser, strong man of the U.A.R., whose ambition is a united Arab world under his leadership.

He said he felt the Arab League some day would be reconstituted on more solid and sincere foundations.

Tunisia, a new member of the league, touched off the current crisis between the two Arab countries in Cairo Saturday. The Tunisian delegation accused the U.A.R. of trying to dominate the league. The U.A.R. walked out of the meeting.

Bourguiba again accused the U.A.R. of sheltering and giving active aid to Salah ben Youssef, Bourguiba's former political ally who fled Tunis for exile in Cairo where he preaches the policies of Nasser. Youssef also has plotted actively Bourguiba's assassination, the president said.

3 Preachers, 2 Women Die In Car Crash

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—Two autos collided head-on near Cambridge Wednesday in a flaming crash. Five persons were killed.

The dead included three ministers of the Evangelical United Brethern Church. They were identified as the Rev. Lorin Stine, 53, of Dayton; the Rev. Edward H. Hammon, 54, of (11 Baltimore St.) Middletown, and the Rev. John W. Bench, 45, of Germantown.

The three ministers were returning from a church conference at Harrisburg, Pa.

Killed in the other car were Mrs. Nannie Pence, 70, of Waynesfield and her daughter Mrs. Lucine Shaner, 46, of New Hampshire, both towns are in Auglaize County. The patrol said Mrs. Shaner was driving.

The two autos collided on a slight curve in U. S. 40 about one mile east of here. Both autos were demolished.

The patrol said the Rev. Mr. Hammon was driving the ministers' auto. All the occupants were either thrown clear by the impact or were removed by passers-by.

The Rev. Mr. Stine was pastor of the Fairview EUB Church in Dayton and a member of the EUB's Board of Christian Education and the Commission on Evangelism of the Ohio-Miami Conference of the church.

The Rev. Mr. Hammon was pastor of the First EUB Church of Middletown. The Rev. Mr. Bench had been pastor at the Germantown EUB Church.

Disciplinary Action Hinted In Probe of Sandusky Home

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Investigation of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home at Sandusky indicates that disciplinary action is warranted, Gov. C. William O'Neill said today.

He told a news conference that trustees of the home will meet with him next Tuesday to review a report on the investigation by the State Highway Patrol.

"I would take disciplinary action right now if the governor had authority to do it," O'Neill said.

"Since the governor does not have authority, I have called a meeting of trustees for next Tuesday to review the investigation and findings, and to make our recommendations for disciplinary action."

He explained that trustees have the authority to hire the commandant of the home. The commandant then hires other employes.

The governor indicated that recommendations for disciplinary action might be aimed at some employes in addition to Maj. John W. Parker, the commandant.

J. Ernest Giffin of Bellaire is chairman of the board of trustees. Other members are Harold Skinner of Toledo, Francis O'Hara of Sandusky and Joseph Smith of Alliance, the latter an O'Neill appointee.

The five-member board has one vacancy.

Sparking the investigation were complaints that Parker solicited donations from residents of the home to help pay expenses of a convention there for the heads of similar institutions in other states.

The governor also said he received complaints from former residents about treatment at the home. They said food had been taken from the institution.

A state examiner's report on the home is being prepared for the governor.

O'Neill said contents of the Highway Patrol report will not be released in advance of the meeting with trustees.

Fayette County Job Situation Still Improving

Fayette County unemployment is now at the lowest level in 12 months, according to Mrs. Matilda Jo Smith, manager of the Washington C. H. office of the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation.

She said that in mid-October, 1957, the new claims filed equaled the 19 new claims filed last week in Fayette County. From that period on last year the new claims continued to rise along with continued claims, but this year they are decreasing.

The unemployment figures have been steadily decreasing for the past several weeks, according to the figures released by her office. Continued claims last week dropped to 161 from the 167 filed during the first week of October.

EXTENDED compensation is now in its 13th week, Mrs. Smith said. Rights of persons who filed these claims in first week will be terminated this week. Others who have not used up their 13 weeks of extended compensation can do so during the period ending April 1959.

The emergency unemployment legislation passed this summer by Ohio General Assembly provides for 13 weeks of unemployment compensation for persons who have exhausted the regular payments. Under the former Ohio law a person was entitled to a maximum of 26 weeks of unemployment compensation.

O'Neill Raps Labor Bosses And Gamblers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill struck out at labor bosses and organized gambling in two speeches Wednesday night. He also praised his Republican administration's highway building program and predicted an end to the recession in Ohio.

"For two years," he told a gathering of 450 persons at suburban Garfield Heights, "we have been trying to give Ohio the kind of roads it needs—roads that are safer, faster and cheaper to travel than has been the case in the past

He mentioned several major projects under construction in Cuyahoga County as examples of his administration's striving for progress.

Faubus Demands School Board OK Private Teacher Setup

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board today faced the threat of legislative action to make it release teachers for a private school operation.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus accused the board of blocking progress on the private education plan by refusing to free its teachers from their contracts.

After conferring with the governor, State Rep. Paul Van Dalsen of Perry County said if the board continues in its refusal the legislature will step into the matter.

"If necessary we will release them by abolishing the district altogether," Van Dalsem said. He added that other legislators agreed with his viewpoint.

Dr. William G. Cooper, a School Board member, replied to Faubus' charge by saying the board had not attempted to tell public school teachers what to do.

The teachers have been advised by their attorneys not to participate in any private school plan, in view of a federal court order issued last month restraining the board and all other parties from engaging in such a plan.

The order was extended Wednesday by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Presiding Judge Joseph W. Woodrough of the special three-member panel said the edict will remain in force until the court makes its final ruling "as soon as possible."

The order was broadened to, include not only the School Board but all others who might try to block integration through the Little Rock Private School Corp. The court said the order had to be extended to protect what racial integration had already been accomplished in Little Rock schools.

* Six Negroes are enrolled at the closed Little Rock Central High, the only school in the city which has been integrated.

Protector of Girl Shot by Molester

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A man shot and seriously wounded 17-year old David Lanz Wednesday night after Lanz went to the aid of a girl the man allegedly was molesting, police were told.

The girl, Shirley Bell, 15, said a man accosted her on White Avenue on Toledo's East Side and followed her when she ignored him. She met Lanz and Robert Martin, 18, and asked them to escort her home.

Martin said Lanz talked with the alleged molester who then pulled a pistol and shot in the air. When the youths tried to follow him, Martin said, the man shot Lanz in the stomach and fled.

U.S. Personal Income Climbs to Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income climbed to a new record last month. Much of the increase was in the durable goods industries that had been hard hit in the recession.

The Commerce Department reported that the income total in September reached an annual rate of 375½ billion dollars—up 1½ billions from August and up about 11 billions from the recession low last February.

This Postmaster Pleasantly Loaded

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—For 12 years, Postmaster James M. Smith trudged a foot-wearying route in the Miller Valley with a smile and a kind word for all.

Smith is the father of two children and expects a third one soon. Wednesday, Miller found gifts for the expected baby in 85 of the mailboxes on his route.

U. S. Unveils Rocket Ship

X15 Said Forerunner To Space Vehicle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Air Force, the Navy and the new civilian space agency have proudly trundled the forerunner of tomorrow's space vehicle out into public view.

The X15 is long, low and sleek, with stubby wings astern and tiny cockpit perched far forward, a protuberance so slight that some uninformed observers speculated that this must be a pilotless craft.

It's painted jet black, presumably in connection with radiation studies to be made on coasting flights more than 100 miles above earth. It's designed to fly more than 3,600 miles an hour.

Harrison Storms, chief engineer of North American's Los Angeles division, which built the plane, put it this way: the X15 can fly three times as fast as the fastest jet fighters, twice as fast as a high-speed rifle bullet, and can "easily exceed a world altitude record by many times."

The X15 will be hauled by truck within a few days to Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., 125 miles northeast of here, for the start of a test program.

The initial flight tentatively has been scheduled for early February, test pilot Scott Crossfield told reporters. However, Crossfield may make the first flight in January or, with exceptional luck, in December.

For its space probing, the X15 will be carried aloft under a B52 jet bomber and launched over the Wendover, Utah, area.

In full-scale flights its rocket engine will burn for 90 seconds, hurtling the craft into a ballistic flight path. Empty of fuel, X15 will arc 460 miles to Edwards and a deadstick landing on steel skids it uses in place of wheels.

Offshore Oil Rig Blast Kills Worker

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Explosions, followed by fire, demolished a multi-million dollar offshore oil production platform, killed one crewman and sent 21 others to hospitals Wednesday night.

Seven others were unaccounted for in an inferno in the Gulf of Mexico, 60 miles south of New Orleans. Five, possibly all six, oil wells clustered under the platform burned uncontrolled.

The workmen were hurled or jumped from the platform, 50 feet above the 50-foot-deep water. Survivors were picked up by surface craft and taken to a nearby undamaged platform where they were picked up by helicopters and brought to hospitals.

Algeria Foes Of DeGaulle Bow to Order

ALGIERS (AP)—French right-wingers opposing Premier Charles de Gaulle's sweeping Algerian reforms called off their strikes and demonstrations today.

It was a resounding victory for De Gaulle in a showdown with his former supporters in this North African territory.

The big Forum Square where right-wingers had called a protest demonstration was empty at the appointed hour. It was ringed with troops and firetrucks.

The strike and demonstration were hastily called off after leaders of the badly split public safety committee had held a showdown conference with De Gaulle's representative, Gen. Raoul Salan, the top military and civilian commander here.

The committee, deflated by the abrupt withdrawal on De Gaulle's orders of its military members, began to disintegrate.

Twenty-four of its original 64 founders resigned rather than risk a head-on collision with De Gaulle. After his decisive Sept. 28 constitutional referendum victory, the Premier is undisputed master of France and its Overseas Territories.

Details of Salan's talk to the committee leaders were not disclosed. He met them with firm instructions from De Gaulle, whom he had seen 24 hours before in Paris.

In the depleted committee only 10 die-hards continued to insist on holding the mass protests and strike after army trucks with loudspeakers had toured Algiers blaring out appeals to the population to stick by De Gaulle. Thir-

Air Force Ship Rips Highway, Kills Motorist

The twin-engine C123 ran out of gas and swooped down on the four-lane Southern State Parkway on Long Island. Skidding hundreds of feet, it ripped through an underpass and struck three cars before stopping in flames.

Harold J. Schneider, West Islip, N.Y., died of head injuries shortly after the accident.

Three Air Force men and two women motorists suffered minor injuries.

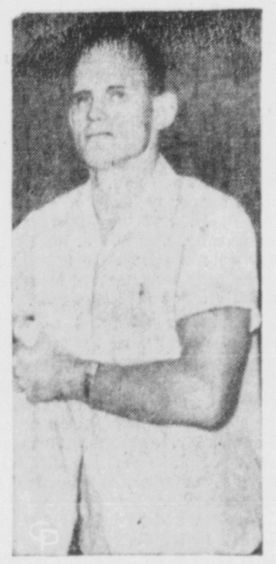
The injured Air Force men were identified as Capt. John Florio, Sgt. Wallett A. Carman and Sgt. Edgar H. Williamson. The pilot was Lt. Gary L. Moolson.

The plane had been en route from Dobbins Air Force Base, Marietta, Ga., to Mitchel Field on Long Island.



Dynamiter?

WALLACE ALLEN, 32, a crippled salesman, is being held by Atlanta, Ga., police for questioning in the dynamiting of a synagogue. Police found drawings of the Nazi swastika and anti-Semitic literature in Allen's home.

Toledo Trio Robs Brewery Of $84,000

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Three men, timing their crime just after a delivery by a Brinks armored truck, robbed the cashier of the Buckeye Brewing Co. offices today and escaped in a car with approximately $84,000 in payroll money.

Tipped on the license plates on the car, police traced it to a residence here and surrounded the house. But it appeared later that the plates had been stolen from another auto.

Richard (Red) Smith, general manager of the brewery, said one of the men was waiting in an anteroom with three customers when the Brinks guards handed a bag containing money to the cashier, Tony Carlos.

As Carlos started up the stairs to put the cash in a second-floor vault, the man snarled "This is it!" and grabbed the money.

At the same time, an armed accomplice appeared at the door of the anteroom. The two robbers fled from the building to a car which a third accomplice had kept running outside.

Smith said the customers and two other office employes were unaware of what was taking place.

He said the Brinks delivery customarily arrives at the company at about the same time each Thursday, and that the robbers apparently had learned this to time their crime so well.

Witnesses spotted the license number on the fleeing getaway car and reported it to police.

Pike Gas Firm Files For New Rate Schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission Wednesday permitted the Pike Natural Gas Co. to file initial rates for unincorporated areas in Clinton and Highland Counties.

The rates will be the same as the company charges its customers in nearby incorporated communities.

FBI Holds Mum On Findings in Atlanta Violence

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A special police staff went into seclusion as they pressed harder than ever today for a solution to the dynamite explosion which shattered a large portion of a Jewish temple.

Reliable sources said it was understood the FBI expected to solve the case today. N. R. Johnson, in charge of the FBI office here, declined comment.

The blast before dawn Sunday was the first anti-Semitic violence in Atlanta but the fourth in the South this year. It caused $200,000 damage to The Temple.

The police staff directing the investigation here moved to an undisclosed site late Wednesday. Capt. J. L. Moseley said requests for information from news media had reached the point where they were interfering with the investigation.

Two more bomb threats were made Wednesday night by telephone but nothing came of either. Radio-TV stations WSB and WSB-TV received a call from a man who said the Atlanta Journal-Constitution building would be bombed next. Extra policemen have been on duty at the building since a similar threat was made Sunday night. WSB and WSB-TV, which is owned by the newspapers, said it received a second call later, apparently from the same man, who said the station also would be blown up.

Five persons being held by the police were questioned by the FBI. Police said a search of the residences of two of the men turned up two letters, one of which threatened the Atlanta Jewish community. The other contained hate-mongering correspondence from another state.

Officers said the letters and a statement by one of those arrested tied two other persons in custody to a group that met here last May plot the bombing of The Temple.

However, Atlanta police were ordered to show cause Friday why five men they are holding should not be released.

The order, served this morning, was signed by Fulton County Superior Court Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

Named in one of the court orders were George Bright, Luther Griffin, and Robert Bowling. The writ said the charge "suspicion of vagrancy" lodged against the four is illegal.

The fifth man, Wallace H. Allen, is held on a charge of "willful and malicious destroying or injuring any dwelling house ... or place of business or lodging of any person within the limits of any city or town with or by the use of dynamite ... or other explosives ...."

More GIs Return From Lebanon Duty

FUERSTENFELDBRUCK, Germany (AP) — More American troops returned to Germany today after 2½ months of special duty in Lebanon.

The advance party of the 1st Airborne Battle Group of the 24th Infantry Division flew into this south German air base aboard a Globemaster.

A second plane was due late today, with the remainder of the task force to follow in the near future.

Schwart Outines Program -- Defines 'Nonpartisan Issues'

Mrs. Brown Scores Democrats at GOP Dinner

At the same time they heard Omar (Jim) Schwart, Republican candidate for Fayette County representative to the General Assembly, outline his platform and declare that the local school situation, annexation and the Right-to-Work bill are not partisan political issues.

The meeting was held at the Country Club.

Mrs. Brown, a resident of Dayton and president of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, outlined the importance of getting out the full Republican vote, adding that 'We are not just fighting Democrats—we are fighting a left-wing gang with unlimited funds who are trying to control the Congress."

She said that the Democrat party is dominated by labor bosses and leftist extremists. Another Democratic national program would be far to the left of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, she declared.

Mrs. Brown urged the election of Elmer S. Barrett to Congress, asserting that he would add strength to the Republican administration.

THE SPEAKER listed the principal issues of the day as peace, fiscal integrity, inflation, taxation and the spread of communism. She praised the Republican record on these issues and branded Democrats as a party tarred with the centralization of power, deficit spending, corruption, attacks on private enterprise and bloody wars.

She stressed the wisdon of the administration's farm program and observed that "if there is a trend to the Democrats this year, it is because people are not awake to the dangers."

The national committeewoman expressed her appreciation for the cooperation and efforts of Mrs. Donna Wagner, Washington C. H., who was named Sixth District committeewoman last May.

Mrs. Brown and the other speakers were introduced by Mrs. John Sheeley, president of the Republican Women's Club, who acted as mistress of ceremonies.

SCHWART, opening his remarks with a tribute to the party services of Frank Thatcher, whose death occurred Tuesday, emphasized that he is a partisan Republican, running on a Republican platform, and that he does not believe that such issues as the Right - to- Work bill, the Fayette school controversy or annexation are in any sense partisan issues.

Schwart pointed out that no person or group has asked any favors of him and that he will not promise any favors to any person or group to win their support or for any other purpose.

"I propose if elected", he said, "to keep Fayette Countians informed relative to pending legislation. An informed public is an intelligent public, and I desire the most intelligent constituency any officer-holder ever had.

Adding that he intends to keep newspapers and radio stations advised of legislation, he said that he also will be available to discuss

O'Neill Raps Labor Bosses And Gamblers

CLEVELAND (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill struck out at labor bosses and organized gambling in two speeches Wednesday night. He also praised his Republican administration's highway building program and predicted an end to the recession in Ohio.

"For two years," he told a gathering of 450 persons at suburban Garfield Heights, "we have been trying to give Ohio the kind of roads it needs—roads that are safer, faster and cheaper to travel than has been the case in the past

He mentioned several major projects under construction in Cuyahoga County as examples of his administration's striving for progress.

Faubus Demands School Board OK Private Teacher Setup

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board today faced the threat of legislative action to make it release teachers for a private school operation.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus accused the board of blocking progress on the private education plan by refusing to free its teachers from their contracts.

After conferring with the governor, State Rep. Paul Van Dalsen of Perry County said if the board continues in its refusal the legislature will step into the matter.

"If necessary we will release them by abolishing the district altogether," Van Dalsem said. He added that other legislators agreed with his viewpoint.

Dr. William G. Cooper, a School Board member, replied to Faubus' charge by saying the board had not attempted to tell public school teachers what to do.

The teachers have been advised by their attorneys not to participate in any private school plan, in view of a federal court order issued last month restraining the board and all other parties from engaging in such a plan.

The order was extended Wednesday by the U.S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis.

Presiding Judge Joseph W. Woodrough of the special three-member panel said the edict will remain in force until the court makes its final ruling "as soon as possible."

The order was broadened to include not only the School Board but all others who might try to block integration through the Little Rock Private School Corp. The court said the order had to be extended to protect what racial integration had already been accomplished in Little Rock schools.

Six Negroes are enrolled at the closed Little Rock Central High, the only school in the city which has been integrated.

Protector of Girl Shot by Molester

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A man shot and seriously wounded 17-year old David Lanz Wednesday night after Lanz went to the aid of a girl the man allegedly was molesting, police were told.

The girl, Shirley Bell, 15, said a man accosted her on White Avenue on Toledo's East Side and followed her when she ignored him. She met Lanz and Robert Martin, 18, and asked them to escort her home.

Martin said Lanz talked with the alleged molester who then pulled a pistol and shot in the air. When the youths tried to follow him, Martin said, the man shot Lanz in the stomach and fled.

U.S. Personal Income Climbs to Record High

WASHINGTON (AP)—Personal income climbed to a new record last month. Much of the increase was in the durable goods industries that had been hard hit in the recession.

The Commerce Department reported that the income total in September reached an annual rate of 375½ billion dollars—up 1½ billions from August and up about 11 billions from the recession low last February.

This Postmaster Pleasantly Loaded

PRESCOTT, Ariz. (AP)—For 12 years, Postmaster James M. Smith trudged a foot-wearying route in the Miller Valley with a smile and a kind word for all.

Smith is the father of two children and expects a third one soon. Wednesday, Miller found gifts for the expected baby in 85 of the mailboxes on his route.

U. S. Unveils Rocket Ship

X15 Said Forerunner To Space Vehicle

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Air Force, the Navy and the new civilian space agency have proudly trundled the forerunner of tomorrow's space vehicle out into public view.

The X15 is long, low and sleek, with stubby wings astern and tiny cockpit perched far forward, a protuberance so slight that some uninformed observers speculated that this must be a pilotless craft.

It's painted jet black, presumably in connection with radiation studies to be made on coasting flights more than 100 miles above earth. It's designed to fly more than 3,600 miles an hour.

Harrison Storms, chief engineer of North American's Los Angeles division, which built the plane, put it this way: the X15 can fly three times as fast as the fastest jet fighters, twice as fast as a high-speed rifle bullet, and can "easily exceed a world altitude record by many times."

The X15 will be hauled by truck within a few days to Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., 125 miles northeast of here, for the start of a test program.

The initial flight tentatively has been scheduled for early February, test pilot Scott Crossfield told reporters. However, Crossfield may make the first flight in January or, with exceptional luck, in December.

For its space probing, the X15 will be carried aloft under a B52 jet bomber and launched over the Wendover, Utah, area.

In full-scale flights its rocket engine will burn for 90 seconds, hurtling the craft into a ballistic flight path. Empty of fuel, X15 will arc 460 miles to Edwards and a deadstick landing on steel skids it uses in place of wheels.

Offshore Oil Rig Blast Kills Worker

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Explosions, followed by fire, demolished a multi-million dollar offshore oil production platform, killed one crewman and sent 21 others to hospitals Wednesday night.

Seven others were unaccounted for in an inferno in the Gulf of Mexico, 60 miles south of New Orleans. Five, possibly all six, oil wells clustered under the platform burned uncontrolled.

The workmen were hurled or jumped from the platform, 50 feet above the 50-foot-deep water. Survivors were picked up by surface craft and taken to a nearby undamaged platform where they were picked up by helicopters and brought to hospitals.

Algeria Foes Of DeGaulle Bow to Order

It was a resounding victory for De Gaulle in a showdown with his former supporters in this North African territory.

The big Forum Square where right-wingers had called a protest demonstration was empty at the appointed hour. It was ringed with troops and firetrucks.

The strike and demonstration were hastily called off after leaders of the badly split public safety committee had held a showdown conference with De Gaulle's representative, Gen. Raoul Salan, the top military and civilian commander here.

The committee, deflated by the abrupt withdrawal on De Gaulle's orders of its military members, began to disintegrate.

Twenty-four of its original 64 founders resigned rather than risk a head-on collision with De Gaulle. After his decisive Sept. 28 constitutional referendum victory, the Premier is undisputed master of France and its Overseas Territories.

Details of Salan's talk to the committee leaders were not disclosed. He met them with firm instructions from De Gaulle, whom he had seen 24 hours before in Paris.

In the depleted committee only 10 die-hards continued to insist on holding the mass protests and strike after army trucks with loudspeakers had toured Algiers blaring out appeals to the population to stick by De Gaulle. Thir-

Air Force Ship Rips Highway, Kills Motorist

BABYLON, N.Y. (AP)—A military transport plane with seven men aboard crash-landed on a busy highway Wdenesday night, smashing into three cars during a wild skid and fatally injuring a motorist.

The twin-engine C123 ran out of gas and swooped down on the four-lane Southern State Parkway on Long Island. Skidding hundreds of feet, it ripped through an underpass and struck three cars before stopping in flames.

Harold J. Schneider, West Islip, N.Y., died of head injuries shortly after the accident.

Three Air Force men and two women motorists suffered minor injuries.

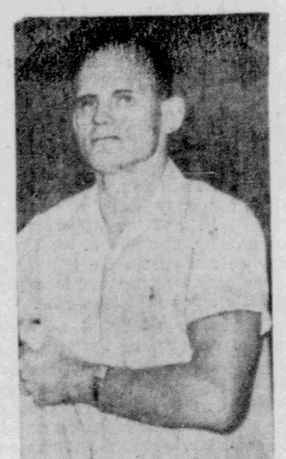
The injured Air Force men were identified as Capt. John Florio, Sgt. Wallett A. Carman and Sgt. Edgar H. Williamson. The pilot was Lt. Gary L. Moolson.

The plane had been en route from Dobbins Air Force Base, Marietta, Ga., to Mitchel Field on Long Island.



Dynamiter?

WALLACE ALLEN, 32, a crippled salesman, is being held by Atlanta, Ga., police for questioning in the dynamiting of a synagogue. Police found drawings of the Nazi swastika and anti-Semitic literature in Allen's home.

Toledo Trio Robs Brewery Of $84,000

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Three men, timing their crime just after a delivery by a Brinks armored truck, robbed the cashier of the Buckeye Brewing Co. offices today and escaped in a car with approximately $84,000 in payroll money.

Tipped on the license plates on the car, police traced it to a residence here and surrounded the house. But it appeared later that the plates had been stolen from another auto.

Richard (Red) Smith, general manager of the brewery, said one of the men was waiting in an anteroom with three customers when the Brinks guards handed a bag containing money to the cashier, Tony Carlos.

As Carlos started up the stairs to put the cash in a second-floor vault, the man snarled "This is it!" and grabbed the money.

At the same time, an armed accomplice appeared at the door of the anteroom. The two robbers fled from the building to a car which a third accomplice had kept running outside.

Smith said the customers and two other office employes were unaware of what was taking place.

He said the Brinks delivery customarily arrives at the company at about the same time each Thursday, and that the robbers apparently had learned this to time their crime so well.

Witnesses spotted the license number on the fleeing getaway car and reported it to police.

Pike Gas Firm Files For New Rate Schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission Wednesday permitted the Pike Natural Gas Co. to file initial rates for unincorporated areas in Clinton and Highland Counties.

The rates will be the same as the company charges its customers in nearby incorporated communities.

FBI Holds Mum On Findings in Atlanta Violence

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A special police staff went into seclusion as they pressed harder than ever today for a solution to the dynamite explosion which shattered a large portion of a Jewish temple.

Reliable sources said it was understood the FBI expected to solve the case today. N. R. Johnson, in charge of the FBI office here, declined comment.

The blast before dawn Sunday was the first anti-Semitic violence in Atlanta but the fourth in the South this year. It caused $200,000 damage to The Temple.

The police staff directing the investigation here moved to an undisclosed site late Wednesday. Capt. J. L. Moseley said requests for information from news media had reached the point where they were interfering with the investigation.

Two more bomb threats were made Wednesday night by telephone but nothing came of either. Radio-TV stations WSB and WSB-TV received a call from a man who said the Atlanta Journal-Constitution building would be bombed next. Extra policemen have been on duty at the building since a similar threat was made Sunday night. WSB and WSB-TV, which is owned by the newspapers, said it received a second call later, apparently from the same man, who said the station also would be blown up.

Five persons being held by the police were questioned by the FBI. Police said a search of the residences of two of the men turned up two letters, one of which threatened the Atlanta Jewish community. The other contained hate-mongering correspondence from another state.

Officers said the letters and a statement by one of those arrested tied two other persons in custody to a group that met here last May plot the bombing of The Temple.

However, Atlanta police were ordered to show cause Friday why five men they are holding should not be released.

The order, served this morning, was signed by Fulton County Superior Court Judge Virlyn B. Moore.

Named in one of the court orders were George Bright, Luther Griffin, and Robert Bowling. The writ said the charge "suspicion of vagrancy" lodged against the four is illegal.

The fifth man, Wallace H. Allen, is held on a charge of "willful and malicious destroying or injuring any dwelling house ... or place of business or lodging of any person within the limits of any city or town with or by the use of dynamite ... or other explosives ...."

More GIs Return From Lebanon Duty

FUERSTENFELDBRUCK, Germany (AP) — More American troops returned to Germany today after 2½ months of special duty in Lebanon.

The advance party of the 1st Airborne Battle Group of the 24th Infantry Division flew into this south German air base aboard a Globemaster.

A second plane was due late today, with the remainder of the task force to follow in the near future.

Schwart Outines Program -- Defines 'Nonpartisan Issues'

Mrs. Brown Scores Democrats at GOP Dinner

At the same time they heard Omar (Jim) Schwart, Republican candidate for Fayette County representative to the General Assembly, outline his platform and declare that the local school situation, annexation and the Right-to-Work bill are not partisan political issues.

The meeting was held at the Country Club.

Mrs. Brown, a resident of Dayton and president of the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, outlined the importance of getting out the full Republican vote, adding that 'We are not just fighting Democrats—we are fighting a left-wing gang with unlimited funds who are trying to control the Congress."

She said that the Democrat party is dominated by labor bosses and leftist extremists. An other Democratic national program would be far to the left of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, she declared.

Mrs. Brown urged the election of Elmer S. Barrett to Congress, asserting that he would add strength to the Republican administration.

THE SPEAKER listed the principal issues of the day as peace, fiscal integrity, inflation, taxation and the spread of communism. She praised the Republican record on these issues and branded Democrats as a party tarred with the centralization of power, deficit spending, corruption, attacks on private enterprise and bloody wars.

She stressed the wisdon of the administration's farm program and observed that "if there is a trend to the Democrats this year, it is because people are not awake to the dangers."

The national committeewoman expressed her appreciation for the cooperation and efforts of Mrs. Donna Wagner, Washington C. H., who was named Sixth District committeewoman last May.

Mrs. Brown and the other speakers were introduced by Mrs. John Sheeley, president of the Republican Women's Club, who acted as mistress of ceremonies.

SCHWART, opening his remarks with a tribute to the party services of Frank Thatcher, whose death occurred Tuesday, emphasized that he is a partisan Republican, running on a Republican platform, and that he does not believe that such issues as the Right - to- Work bill, the Fayette school controversy or annexation are in any sense partisan issues.

Schwart pointed out that no person or group has asked any favors of him and that he will not promise any favors to any person or group to win their support or for any other purpose.

"I propose if elected", he said, "to keep Fayette Countians informed relative to pending legislation. An informed public is an intelligent public, and I desire the most intelligent constituency any officer-holder ever had.

Adding that he intends to keep newspapers and radio stations advised of legislation, he said that he also will be available to discuss

Stock Market Handed Stiff Credit Control

Federal Reserve Board Seeks To Curb Use of Borrowed Cash in Deals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board today put into effect the stiffest stock market credit restraints in nearly 12 years. The board's purpose: to discourage speculation with borrowed money.

The board announced plans Wednesday to increase to 90 per cent the margin, or minimum down payment, required on purchases of stocks. The minimum margin had been 70 per cent since Aug. 5, when it was raised from 50 per cent.

The latest action means investors henceforth must put up at least $90 in cash for every $100 of stock they buy. It does not have any retroactive effect on stocks bought when margins were lower.

Wall Street had been expecting an increase and some stock analysts said they believed the action had been discounted advance. The market reached an all-time high Monday but prices fell in heavy trading Tuesday and Wednesday.

When the reserve board raises margins, the aim is to prevent excessive use of credit in the stock market. If too much borrowed money moves into the market, less is available for use by borrowers in other sectors of the economy.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said credit on that exchange totals $3,100,000,000. He said this is only 1.3 per cent of the total market value of the stocks.

Funston said stock market credit has not kept pace with increases in stock prices or with nongovernment credit in the rest of the economy.

A reserve board spokesman said loans by brokers and banks for purchasing stocks totaled $4,300,000,000 at the end of September. He said this was the largest amount since this type of statistic was first collected during the 1930s.

Brokers' loans had increased 20 per cent this year and bank loans for stock purchases are up 8 per cent, he said.

Realtors Meet Here Wednesday

Realtors of Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties gathered in the Hotel Washington banquet room Wednesday evening for dinner and the regular meeting of the Tri-County Real Estate Board.

The round table discussion centered on problems brought up by the members out of their personal experiences.

The recorded talk by Nightingale, who reputedly retired at the age of 35 with an annual income of $30,000 a year, stressed that "you can be what you want to be" with ambition.

U.S. Population Hits 175 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's population reached 175 million at 11:08 a.m. EDT today, by the estimate of the Commerce Department's census clock.

The digits on the speedometer-like counter turned over with a clanking of cams and plungers before a small crowd attracted by a goodly throng of motion picture and still photographers.

The clock's population tally increases by one every 11 seconds. This represents the average net effect on the population of one birth each 7½ seconds, one death each 20 seconds, one immigrant arrival each 1½ minutes and one emigrant departure each 20 minutes.

Red China Bans Jehovah Witnesses

TOKYO (AP) — Peiping radio reported today the arrest in Shanghai of five Jehovah's Witnesses and banning of the religious sect.

The five—two Britons and three Chinese—were accused of trying to wreck Red China's "Socialist construction."

The charge was denied in New York by the head of the sect, which sent the Britons to China in 1947.

The Britons are Stanley Ernest Jones and Harold George King, the only foreign missionaries of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Communist China. Peiping gave no immediate indication of what will become of them or of the three Chinese.

Mrs. Ruth Parks and Mrs. Myrtle Childs sang "Rock of Ages." They were accompanied by Mrs. Marian Gage.

Pallbearers were Joseph, Robert, John and David Hardy and Stanley and Kenneth Patterson. Burial was in the Lattaville Cemetery in Ross County.

F. and G. Members To Cut Up Wood For Lodge Sunday

Members of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. will turn woodcutters Sunday.

With their familes they are to go to the association's recreation area near Buena Vista Sunday for a big family picnic — and to cut wood to be used in the lodge during the winter.

The basket dinner is to be spread out under the trees at 1 p. m. if the weather is fair; if it is not, the picnic will be held in the lodge.

But, fair weather is a must if the other purpose of the gathering is to be fulfilled, for it is unlikly that much wood would be cut in the rain.

Members of the association said five dead trees are standing on the tract and that there also are five or six other big trees on the ground.

They admitted that it is unlikely that they can get them all cut up and stacked conveniently beside the lodge in one day, but they said they felt they could get enough wood piled up to last a long time.

Word has been passed around among the members to bring axes and saws with them Sunday.

The association has around 300 members, but not all of them are active. Some live in other cities and towns as far away as Columbus and Cincinnati. However, between 30 and 50 are expected to join in the wood cutting Sunday.

Eastside Patrol Boys Entertained

The 17 members of the Eastside schoolboy traffic safety patrol, who were rated tops in the city for September, were the guests of honor at a wiener roast in Community Park Wednesday evening.

The part for them was arranged by the 78 pupils in the two Eastside sixth grades. The teachers are Mrs. Loreah O'Briant, Mrs. Ruth Domenico and Principal Earl Miller.

The youngsters gathered at the park about 5 p. m. and played gamse until supper time. They were on their way home by 7 p. m.

Eastside patrol was given the No. 1 rating in September by the city police, who use a comprehensive standard form for grading all six school patrols in the city.

IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD.

Private Cash Is Sought by Clinton School

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The Anderson County School Board, given little encouragement about federal aid, has voted to accept private donations to help rebuild bombed Clinton High School.

The board voted Wednesday to accept $562 in private donations from all parts of the nation and to take up columnist Drew Pearson's suggestion for a "Committee on the Clinton School House."

Pearson said his committee, which will be incorporated, will seek financial and other assistance for the repair job.

The School Board also instructed Supt. James A. Newman to prepare papers necessary to get the only kind of federal aid available to it. Engineers have estimated $250,000 will be needed to repair the damage caused to the school's interior by three predawn dynamite blasts Oct. 5.

President Eisenhower said at Wednesday's news conference that federal aid is available only under existing laws providing funds for areas heavily populated with federal workers. Many Clinton residents work at atomic installations in nearby Oak Ridge.

Eisenhower's news conference assertion that school problems are primarily the responsibility of local authorities left board members seething, although they took no official notice of his remarks.

"I wish they (the federal government) had held that view two years ago when we were forced to integrate," said board member Ralph Shanlever. The school admitted Negroes in 1956 under federal court orders.

Ex-GIs Slated To Get Ohio Idle Pay Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ex-servicemen soon will be eligible to draw unemployment benefits even though they have had little or no civilian employment.

Gov. C. William O'Neill said today that after Oct. 27 the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation would, under a new federal law, start distributing unemployment benefits to veterans based on their military pay and allowances.

The BUC will act as the agent for the federal government, for the program is financed by the federal government and has no connection with the state-run unemployment benefits program.

Ohio's participation in the federal ex - servicemen's law was made possible by the signing of an agreement between the BUC and the U. S. Department of Labor, O'Neill said.

The governor said the law provides that servicemen who have been separated from duty within the last 15 months will be compensated for weeks of unemploymnet occurring after the starting date, Oct. 27, providing they meet all other requirements for eligibility.

State Control Panel OKs 3 Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state controlling board has released $486,237 to help purchase 145 school buses for 84 school districts.

The board Wednesday also released $98,200 to buy 544 acres in Ross County for a proposed lake on condition that the wildlife division acquired all the land needed to build a dam and impound the water.

The division of parks received approval of its request for $21,000 for construction of a swimming beach at Loramie State Lake. The lake is midway between St. Marys and Piqua off Ohio 66.

Detained Boy Swallows Pin

A 14-year-old boy, being held in the Fayette County jail for juvenile authorities, was treated at Memorial Hospital Thursday morning after he swallowed a small straight pin, according to the sheriff's office.

The youth told the sheriff's deputies that he swallowed the pin "while he was picking his teeth." The hospital told officers his condition was good enough that he could be returned to custody.

The youth is being held in connection with an alleged assault on a 12-year-old girl, Sheriff Orland Hays said.

Crash Damages Cars

Paul Arthur, 50, of 453 Carolyn Rd., driving east on Washington Ave. collided with the rear of a car driven by Maggie Soale, 42, of 913 Washington Ave., at Washington Ave. and Worley Sts. at 11:40 p. m. Thursday, according to police. Both cars were slightly damaged, but no one was hurt.

The emphasis is on diversity and education with an avoidance of frightening grotesqueness and violence.

District Chief Inspects WCH Lodge of Elk

The Washington C. H. Elks Lodge was host to District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Arvey Diettert, Cincinnati, and a group of other distinguished guests at inspection and visitation ceremonies Wednesday night.

Horace L. Jacobs, exalted ruler of the local lodge, said that Diettert complimented officers on their work and approved the financial management of the lodge.

Lawrence Swartz, exalted ruler of Cincinnati Lodge, accompanied the district deputy as deputy ground esquire, and there were visitors present from several other Ohio lodges including Hillsboro and Hamilton.

AMONG THE GUESTS were the Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly, Washington C. H., state Elks chaplain and former national chaplain of the order; John Quinn, Sidney, chairman of the Ohio State Elks' Assn. board of trustees and three past district deputies.

Diettert discussed the functions of the Elks National Foundation which, through income from a 6-million-dollar trust, furthers youth work, scholarships for deserving students and the training of specialists in the fight against cerebral palsy.

George Blackmore and Mac Dews Sr. were inducted into membership. A light lunch followed the meeting.

Rats Missing In Rat Hunt

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It was rat killing day in Oklahoma City Wednesday. Shotgun-armed police and firemen with flame throwers waded into a weedy area in the northwest sector.

Police Chief Roy Bergman personally directed the big hunt and housewives who had turned their antirat wrath on City Hall watched from the sidelines.

After an hour of hunting, a tiny cotton rat poked his nose from the burning debris and was pulverized by shotgun blasts. Only four others were found by the hunters, who had expected some 600.

Bergman said philosophically: "Everyone cooperated but the rats."

Clermont County Aide Dies in Auto Crash

WILLIAMSBURG, Ohio (AP)—Special Deputy Sheriff Richard Hannah, 24, of Bethel (Clermont County), was killed Wednesday night when his automobile collided with a tractor trailer on Ohio 74 near here.

The Highway Patrol said Hannah was driving his own car.

Commie Plane Flight Hints Of New Strike

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Four Communist planes flew over the tiny Wuchiu Islands today, raising speculation on Formosa that the Reds might try to seize those Nationalist outposts midway between Quemoy and Matsu to offset their failure to invade Quemoy.

The Wuchius lie in the Formosa Strait 15 miles from the mainland 80 miles from Formosa. One of the two islands, Wuchiu, is 128 acres, and the other, Little Wuchiu, is 57.6 acres.

The Chinese Nationalists use them as a lookout post.

Nationalsit Defense Ministry said four red planes circled over the Wuchius for 26 minutes in midmorning, then returned to the mainland.

Observers on Formosa thought the Reds might calculate they could capture the islands with relative ease, then trumpet their victory as the first step toward their long-promised capture of Formosa.

The Nationalists have kept quiet about their defenses on the Wuchius. There is no reason to believe U.S. forces would intervene in fighting there.

O'Neill Schedules Series of Talks On Television

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill will launch the first of a series of live television broadcasts over a statewide network next Tuesday from 9-9:30 p.m. (EST).

"I will speak on why I am for right-to-work," the governor said today.

The broadcast, originating in Columbus, will be carried by six stations.

He said two or three similar programs will be broadcast later. Dates have not been set.

The other broadcasts will review what O'Neill said are the accomplishments of his administration. They probably will touch on the "right-to-work issue," he added.

O'Neill has made the issue of regulating union contracts in Ohio a major campaign theme.

The issue will be on Nov. 4 election ballots as a proposed amendment to the state constitution.

Stock Mart Shows Decline On New Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined early this afternoon and an upward move by coppers and steels fizzled.

It was the market's third straight day of reaction from historic highs.

Trading was heavy in the first hour with the ticker tape late for periods of six and eight minutes. Turnover moderated but still remained active as prices declined.

The action followed a Federal Reserve Board boost in margin requirements for stock purchases to 90 per cent from 70 per cent—a move to restrict credit which Wall Street has been speculating about for some weeks.

The margin hike came with reports that net debit balances of New York Stock Exchange member firms' customers rose to the highest level since November 1931. This represents the amount of money owed to brokers by customers who have bought on margin.

Stock prices gyrated considerably before settling to losses of fractions to around a point. Scattered issues bucked the trend.

Major steels showed a string of small plus signs at the start but as the market declined U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin were down a full point or more.

Studebaker - Packard was a bright spot in a depressed motor section, rising a sizable fraction in active dealings. Ford and General Motors were off about a point each. Small minus signs were posted for Chrysler and American Motors.

Oils, rails, drugs and most chemicals were lower. Rubbers steady, airlines and tobaccos mixed.

Algeria Foes

teen voted against them.

The committee's top Moslem members, Cherif Sid Cara and Azem Ouali, the new copresidents, and El Madoui, a vice president, called on the committee to cancel its plans. The move followed a meeting in Paris between a De Gaulle aide and Ouali and Madoui who had been sent from Algiers to try to persuade the French leader to change his position.

The committee then issued a communique calling off the strike.

A number of committee members walked out after Gen. Raoul Salan, supreme civilian and military commander in Algeria, in a radio appeal knuckled under to De Gaulle and said he could not "accept" the strike and demonstration.

Cherif Sid Cara, a Moslem copresident of the committee, sent a message from Oran, his home town, repudiating the committee's call. Azem Ouali, the other Moslem copresident, and El Madoui, a vice president, appealed from Paris for the population not to follow the committee's orders.

The strike call was the result of De Gaulle's directive Monday ordering the army to get out of politics. This meant army officers must give up their places on the committee, leaving the civilian members with little strength to preserve their generations-long dominance of Algerian political life.

Gasoline Supply Lost

HARRISONVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Someone opened a gasoline storage tank spigot and by the time it was discovered, 20,000 gallons had flowed into ditches.

Scientists Say Curbs Needed On A-Energy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The world of the atom from H-bombs to fluoroscopes needs regulating. And before the whole field is well in hand just about everybody from the federal government to the village council will have a hand in it.

That's the conclusion of over 100 scientists, government officials and industrialists who attended a three-day conference on peaceful uses of the atom here. The conference ended Wednesday.

There was general agreement that regulatory action is necessary, but there was a difference of opinion as to whether the federal or state governments should take the lead.

It was felt that states should at least take action to regulate those sources of radiation which are not licensed by the atomic energy commission, such as X-ray machines, fluoroscopes and radium.

Municipal and county governments also will have to have regulations covering users of radiation emitters, the conference concluded.

The conference also urged formation of state-level atomic energy advisory groups to coordinate atomic development and act as liaison between state and federal agencies.

Stock Market Handed Stiff Credit Control

Federal Reserve Board Seeks To Curb Use of Borrowed Cash in Deals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board today put into effect the stiffest stock market credit restraints in nearly 12 years. The board's purpose: to discourage speculation with borrowed money.

The board announced plans Wednesday to increase to 90 per cent the margin, or minimum down payment, required on purchases of stocks. The minimum margin had been 70 per cent since Aug. 5, when it was raised from 50 per cent.

The latest action means investors henceforth must put up at least $90 in cash for every $100 of stock they buy. It does not have any retroactive effect on stocks bought when margins were lower.

Wall Street had been expecting an increase and some stock analysts said they believed the action had been discounted advance. The market reached an all-time high Monday but prices fell in heavy trading Tuesday and Wednesday.

When the reserve board raises margins, the aim is to prevent excessive use of credit in the stock market. If too much borrowed money moves into the market, less is available for use by borrowers in other sectors of the economy.

G. Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, said credit on that exchange totals $3,100,000,000. He said this is only 1.3 per cent of the total market value of the stocks.

Funston said stock market credit has not kept pace with increases in stock prices or with nongovernment credit in the rest of the economy.

A reserve board spokesman said loans by brokers and banks for purchasing stocks totaled $4,300,000,000 at the end of September. He said this was the largest amount since this type of statistic was first collected during the 1930s.

Brokers' loans had increased 20 per cent this year and bank loans for stock purchases are up 8 per cent, he said.

Realtors Meet Here Wednesday

Realtors of Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties gathered in the Hotel Washington banquet room Wednesday evening for dinner and the regular meeting of the Tri-County Real Estate Board.

The round table discussion centered on problems brought up by the members out of their personal experiences.

The recorded talk by Nightingale, who reputedly retired at the age of 35 with an annual income of $30,000 a year, stressed that "you can be what you want to be" with ambition.

U.S. Population Hits 175 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's population reached 175 million at 11:08 a.m. EDT today, by the estimate of the Commerce Department's census clock.

The digits on the speedometer-like counter turned over with a clanking of cams and plungers before a small crowd attracted by a goodly throng of motion picture and still photographers.

The clock's population tally increases by one every 11 seconds. This represents the average net effect on the population of one birth each 7½ seconds, one death each 20 seconds, one immigrant arrival each 1½ minutes and one emigrant departure each 20 minutes.

Red China Bans Jehovah Witnesses

TOKYO (AP) — Peiping radio reported today the arrest in Shanghai of five Jehovah's Witnesses and banning of the religious sect.

The five—two Britons and three Chinese—were accused of trying to wreck Red China's "Socialist construction."

The charge was denied in New York by the head of the sect, which sent the Britons to China in 1947.

The Britons are Stanley Ernest Jones and Harold George King, the only foreign missionaries of the Jehovah's Witnesses in Communist China. Peiping gave no immediate indication of what will become of them or of the three Chinese.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. Jessie L. Seabury

Mrs. Jessie L. Seabury, 74, died 9:30 a. m. Thursday at her home, 621 Church St., here.

She had been failing in health for three years and had been seriously ill four months.

Born in W shington C. H., she was a member of the Second Baptist Church on Columbus Ave.

She is survived by her husband, Chelsea Seabury; one daughter, Mrs. Iola Mitchell, 621 Church St.; two sons, Harold Davis, 318 Florence St., and Reginald Davis, 633 Church St.; two grandchildren, and one great-grandchild.

Services will be held 2 p. m. Saturday at the Gerstner Funeral Home and burial will be in the Washington Cemetery.

James R. Satterfield

JEFFERSONVILLE — James Randall Satterfield, 8-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Satterfield, former residents of Washington C. H. and the Jeffersonville community, died at 5 a. m. Thursday en route from the Satterfield home near Williamsburg to a physician's office in Blanchester.

Death was attributed to pneumonia, complicated by asthma.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a sister, Evelyn, and two brothers, Michael and Stephen. He also leaves his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Sears of Jeffersonville and his great grandfather, Al Satterfield of Jeffersonville.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Jeffersonville Methodist Church by the Rev. Clarence R. Williamson, the pastor. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Friends may call after 2 p. m. Friday at the Morrow Funeral Home in Jeffersonville.

MRS. BERTHA KING — Services for Mrs. Bertha King, of the Leesburg Rd., who died 1:15 p. m. Monday in Memorial Hospital here, were held at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in the Gerstner Funeral Home by the Rev. Labin Houck, pastor, North Side Church of God.

Mrs. Ruth Parks and Mrs. Myrtle Childs sang "Rock of Ages." They were accompanied by Mrs. Marian Gage.

Pallbearers were Joseph, Robert, John and David Hardy and Stanley and Kenneth Patterson. Burial was in the Lattaville Cemetery in Ross County.

F. and G. Members To Cut Up Wood For Lodge Sunday

Members of the Fayette County Fish and Game Assn. will turn woodcutters Sunday.

With their familes they are to go to the association's recreation area near Buena Vista Sunday for a big family picnic — and to cut wood to be used in the lodge during the winter.

The basket dinner is to be spread out under the trees at 1 p. m. if the weather is fair; if it is not, the picnic will be held in the lodge.

But, fair weather is a must if the other purpose of the gathering is to be fulfilled, for it is unlikly that much wood would be cut in the rain.

Members of the association said five dead trees are standing on the tract and that there also are five or six other big trees on the ground.

They admitted that it is unlikely that they can get them all cut up and stacked conveniently beside the lodge in one day, but they said they felt they could get enough wood piled up to last a long time.

Word has been passed around among the members to bring axes and saws with them Sunday.

The association has around 300 members, but not all of them are active. Some live in other cities and towns as far away as Columbus and Cincinnati. However, between 30 and 50 are expected to join in the wood cutting Sunday.

Eastside Patrol Boys Entertained

The 17 members of the Eastside schoolboy traffic safety patrol, who were rated tops in the city for September, were the guests of honor at a wiener roast in Community Park Wednesday evening.

The part for them was arranged by the 78 pupils in the two Eastside sixth grades. The teachers are Mrs. Loreah O'Briant, Mrs. Ruth Domenico and Principal Earl Miller.

The youngsters gathered at the park about 5 p. m. and played gamse until supper time. They were on their way home by 7 p. m.

Eastside patrol was given the No. 1 rating in September by the city police, who use a comprehensive standard form for grading all six school patrols in the city.

Private Cash Is Sought by Clinton School

CLINTON, Tenn. (AP) — The Anderson County School Board, given little encouragement about federal aid, has voted to accept private donations to help rebuild bombed Clinton High School.

The board voted Wednesday to accept $562 in private donations from all parts of the nation and to take up columnist Drew Pearson's suggestion for a "Committee on the Clinton School House."

Pearson said his committee, which will be incorporated, will seek financial and other assistance for the repair job.

The School Board also instructed Supt. James A. Newman to prepare papers necessary to get the only kind of federal aid available to it. Engineers have estimated $250,000 will be needed to repair the damage caused to the school's interior by three predawn dynamite blasts Oct. 5.

President Eisenhower said at Wednesday's news conference that federal aid is available only under existing laws providing funds for areas heavily populated with federal workers. Many Clinton residents work at atomic installations in nearby Oak Ridge.

Eisenhower's news conference assertion that school problems are primarily the responsibility of local authorities left board members seething, although they took no official notice of his remarks.

"I wish they (the federal government) had held that view two years ago when we were forced to integrate," said board member Ralph Shanlever. The school admitted Negroes in 1956 under federal court orders.

Ex-GIs Slated To Get Ohio Idle Pay Soon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ex-servicemen soon will be eligible to draw unemployment benefits even though they have had little or no civilian employment.

Gov. C. William O'Neill said today that after Oct. 27 the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation would, under a new federal law, start distributing unemployment benefits to veterans based on their military pay and allowances.

The BUC will act as the agent for the federal government, for the program is financed by the federal government and has no connection with the state-run unemployment benefits program.

Ohio's participation in the federal ex - servicemen's law was made possible by the signing of an agreement between the BUC and the U. S. Department of Labor, O'Neill said.

The governor said the law provides that servicemen who have been separated from duty within the last 15 months will be compensated for weeks of unemploymnet occurring after the starting date, Oct. 27, providing they meet all other requirements for eligibility.

State Control Panel OKs 3 Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state controlling board has released $486,237 to help purchase 145 school buses for 84 school districts.

The board Wednesday also released $98,200 to buy 544 acres in Ross County for a proposed lake on condition that the wildlife division acquired all the land needed to build a dam and impound the water.

The division of parks received approval of its request for $21,000 for construction of a swimming beach at Loramie State Lake. The lake is midway between St. Marys and Piqua off Ohio 66.

Detained Boy Swallows Pin

A 14-year-old boy, being held in the Fayette County jail for juvenile authorities, was treated at Memorial Hospital Thursday morning after he swallowed a small straight pin, according to the sheriff's office.

The youth told the sheriff's deputies that he swallowed the pin "while he was picking his teeth." The hospital told officers his condition was good enough that he could be returned to custody.

The youth is being held in connection with an alleged assault on a 12-year-old girl, Sheriff Orland Hays said.

Crash Damages Cars

Paul Arthur, 50, of 453 Carolyn Rd., driving east on Washington Ave. collided with the rear of a car driven by Maggie Soale, 42, of 913 Washington Ave., at Washington Ave. and Worley Sts. at 11:40 p. m. Thursday, according to police. Both cars were slightly damaged, but no one was hurt.

Rescuers Battle Ice

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (AP) An Antarctic rescue party battled across 30 miles of rugged icefields in a blinding blizzard today today toward a crashed U.S. Air Force plane in which six of the 13 crewmen were reported to have died.

HERE SATURDAY - - Betty Jones, hostess of the "TV Kindergarten," daily morning phantasy-fun program over WBNS-TV, will make a personal appearance at the Montgomery Ward department store, 139 W. Court St., from 2 until 4:30 p. m. "TV Kindergarten" is presented daily with the cooperation of the Columbus Board of Education and offers entertainment for children of kindergarten age. The emphasis is on diversity and education with an avoidance of frightening grotesqueness and violence.

District Chief Inspects WCH Lodge of Elk

The Washington C. H. Elks Lodge was host to District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Arvey Diettert, Cincinnati, and a group of other distinguished guests at inspection and visitation ceremonies Wednesday night.

Horace L. Jacobs, exalted ruler of the local lodge, said that Diettert complimented officers on their work and approved the financial management of the lodge.

Lawrence Swartz, exalted ruler of Cincinnati Lodge, accompanied the district deputy as deputy ground esquire, and there were visitors present from several other Ohio lodges including Hillsboro and Hamilton.

AMONG THE GUESTS were the Rev. Father Richard J. Connelly, Washington C. H., state Elks chaplain and former national chaplain of the order; John Quinn, Sidney, chairman of the Ohio State Elks' Assn. board of trustees and three past district deputies.

Diettert discussed the functions of the Elks National Foundation which, through income from a 6-million-dollar trust, furthers youth work, scholarships for deserving students and the training of specialists in the fight against cerebral palsy.

George Blackmore and Mac Dews Sr. were inducted into membership. A light lunch followed the meeting.

Rats Missing In Rat Hunt

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — It was rat killing day in Oklahoma City Wednesday. Shotgun-armed police and firemen with flame throwers waded into a weedy area in the northwest sector.

Police Chief Roy Bergman personally directed the big hunt and housewives who had turned their antirat wrath on City Hall watched from the sidelines.

After an hour of hunting, a tiny cotton rat poked his nose from the burning debris and was pulverized by shotgun blasts. Only four others were found by the hunters, who had expected some 600.

Bergman said philosophically: "Everyone cooperated but the rats."

Clermont County Aide Dies in Auto Crash

WILLIAMSBURG, Ohio (AP)—Special Deputy Sheriff Richard Hannah, 24, of Bethel (Clermont County), was killed Wednesday night when his automobile collided with a tractor trailer on Ohio 74 near here.

The Highway Patrol said Hannah was driving his own car.

Priest Is Sentenced

BERLIN (AP)—An East German court has sentenced a Catholic priest, Kaplan Hugo Hermes, to 16 months imprisonment on charges of possessing West German books.

Horse Thief Afoot

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—There's a horse thief in Toledo. Raymond Whalen told police someone entered an unlocked rear door of his house Wednesday night and stole a hobby horse valued at $30.

Commie Plane Flight Hints Of New Strike

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Four Communist planes flew over the tiny Wuchiu Islands today, raising speculation on Formosa that the Reds might try to seize those Nationalist outposts midway between Quemoy and Matsu to offset their failure to invade Quemoy.

The Wuchius lie in the Formosa Strait 15 miles from the mainland 80 miles from Formosa. One of the two islands, Wuchiu, is 128 acres, and the other, Little Wuchiu, is 57.6 acres.

The Chinese Nationalists use them as a lookout post.

Nationalsit Defense Ministry said four red planes circled over the Wuchius for 26 minutes in midmorning, then returned to the mainland.

Observers on Formosa thought the Reds might calculate they could capture the islands with relative ease, then trumpet their victory as the first step toward their long-promised capture of Formosa.

The Nationalists have kept quiet about their defenses on the Wuchius. There is no reason to believe U.S. forces would intervene in fighting there.

O'Neill Schedules Series of Talks On Television

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill will launch the first of a series of live television broadcasts over a statewide network next Tuesday from 9-9:30 p.m. (EST).

"I will speak on why I am for right-to-work," the governor said today.

The broadcast, originating in Columbus, will be carried by six stations.

He said two or three similar programs will be broadcast later. Dates have not been set.

The other broadcasts will review what O'Neill said are the accomplishments of his administration. They probably will touch on the "right-to-work issue," he added.

O'Neill has made the issue of regulating union contracts in Ohio a major campaign theme.

The issue will be on Nov. 4 election ballots as a proposed amendment to the state constitution.

Stock Mart Shows Decline On New Rule

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market declined early this afternoon and an upward move by coppers and steels fizzled.

It was the market's third straight day of reaction from historic highs.

Trading was heavy in the first hour with the ticker tape late for periods of six and eight minutes. Turnover moderated but still remained active as prices declined.

The action followed a Federal Reserve Board boost in margin requirements for stock purchases to 90 per cent from 70 per cent—a move to restrict credit which Wall Street has been speculating about for some weeks.

The margin hike came with reports that net debit balances of New York Stock Exchange member firms' customers rose to the highest level since November 1931. This represents the amount of money owed to brokers by customers who have bought on margin.

Stock prices gyrated considerably before settling to losses of fractions to around a point. Scattered issues bucked the trend.

Major steels showed a string of small plus signs at the start but as the market declined U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic Steel and Jones & Laughlin were down a full point or more.

Studebaker - Packard was a bright spot in a depressed motor section, rising a sizable fraction in active dealings. Ford and General Motors were off about a point each. Small minus signs were posted for Chrysler and American Motors.

Oils, rails, drugs and most chemicals were lower. Rubbers steady, airlines and tobaccos mixed.

teen voted against them.

The committee's top Moslem members, Cherif Sid Cara and Azem Ouali, the new copresidents, and El Madoui, a vice president, called on the committee to cancel its plans. The move followed a meeting in Paris between a De Gaulle aide and Ouali and Madoui who had been sent from Algiers to try to persuade the French leader to change his position.

The committee then issued a communique calling off the strike.

A number of committee members walked out after Gen. Raoul Salan, supreme civilian and military commander in Algeria, in a radio appeal knuckled under to De Gaulle and said he could not "accept" the strike and demonstration.

Cherif Sid Cara, a Moslem copresident of the committee, sent a message from Oran, his home town, repudiating the committee's call. Azem Ouali, the other Moslem copresident, and El Madoui, a vice president, appealed from Paris for the population not to follow the committee's orders.

The strike call was the result of De Gaulle's directive Monday ordering the army to get out of politics. This meant army officers must give up their places on the committee, leaving the civilian members with little strength to preserve their generations-long dominance of Algerian political life.

Gasoline Supply Lost

HARRISONVILLE, Mo. (AP) — Someone opened a gasoline storage tank spigot and by the time it was discovered, 20,000 gallons had flowed into ditches.

Scientists Say Curbs Needed On A-Energy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The world of the atom from H-bombs to fluoroscopes needs regulating. And before the whole field is well in hand just about everybody from the federal government to the village council will have a hand in it.

That's the conclusion of over 100 scientists, government officials and industrialists who attended a three-day conference on peaceful uses of the atom here. The conference ended Wednesday.

There was general agreement that regulatory action is necessary, but there was a difference of opinion as to whether the federal or state governments should take the lead.

It was felt that states should at least take action to regulate those sources of radiation which are not licensed by the atomic energy commission, such as X-ray machines, fluoroscopes and radium.

Municipal and county governments also will have to have regulations covering users of radiation emitters, the conference concluded.

The conference also urged formation of state-level atomic energy advisory groups to coordinate atomic development and act as liaison between state and federal agencies.

Secretary Brown Improves Services

There should be a public willingness to give credit to an elected official who, instead of merely "riding along" with tide of routine duty, seeks to show progress in his thinking and accomplishments in his office.

When the books are closed on Dec. 31, the year 1958 will go down in Ohio history as the busiest, most eventful and possibly the most fruitful in the way of long-range planning in public service in the office of the Ohio Secretary of State.

For one thing, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has been outstanding in his close working relations with election boards toward achieving top efficiency in handling of elections and obtaining prompt returns.

He recently estimated that 3,450,000 persons will go to the polls at the coming November election, basing this on registration reports indicating a possible new all - time high record for non - presidential year voting.

He has made every county election board in Ohio conscious of this challenge and of the need for early and, as speedy as possible, returns.

Among other things, Brown has this year brought about the successful completion of a streamline program in the corporation section of the Secretary of State's office in a long - range plan which will eventually place on film all of the thousands of corporation records which have accumulated in that office since 1878.

He initiated a microfilm record service on July 1, 1957, giving himself one year to prove that documents coming in each day could be processed, filmed and returned in their original form in one day and simultaneously make a large "dent" in the backlog of old documents, numbering some 275,000 running from three to 500 pages in length, in placing them on film.

The success of the program was assured even before the advent of 1958 and this year finds the program sailing along on a long - range plan at a saving of badly-needed office space, cluttered by old bulky files, and a cash saving of around $27,000 per year.

Fees received for the filing of such documents and turned into the state's general revenue fund in 1958 will again make Secretary of State Brown's office more than three - times self - sustaining for all its expenditures — administrative, election and corporation activities.

Secretary Brown also has been responsible for adoption of a new method of mailing publicity pamphlets containing "pro" and "con" arguments and samples of the ballot on initiated proposed constitutional amendment relative to contracts and practice of employers and labor unions, as required by the Constitution, it will save Ohio taxpayers $65,000. Brown mailed 3 million of these pamphlets in October.

With the 1958 election still to be held, Secretary of State Brown already has instituted studies for the coming year of the laws pertaining to ways of holding-the-line in election administration costs, consistent with Ohio's growing and shifting population and needs for new election services.

I Like Airplanes, But --

By Saul Pett
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—I like airplanes but:

I don't like the noise, the vibration, the sense of constantly rushing and, of course, the sense of nothing between you and the ground. As far as I can tell, man has gained nothing from the age of flight except the ability to go some place he can't afford.

You can now get from here to there in half the time it takes to claim your luggage.

Airplanes can be uncomfortable. For example:

I can never seem to find the little ash tray on the end of the arm rest. I always seem to grind out my cigaret on my knee.

I think the trays and the silverware and packets of salt and pepper and salad dressing they serve on airplanes are awfully cute, and my kids have enjoyed them for a long time. But I think the meals served on most airplanes are overly ambitious, overly cooked, and overrated. Why, when meals have to be cooked many hours in advance, why do so many airlines insist on serving steak? The steak is so leathery it ought to have a baggage check on it.

I find the stewardesses charming and efficient and solicitous, like hospital nurses wheeling you up to surgery. Instead of these Florence Nightingales, I would prefer the old type of railroad conductor who collected your ticket with a snarl, consulted a huge old watch drawn from his blue serge vest, and then, without a word, retreated to the back of the car to read somebody else's newspapers.

I don't find the announcements made over the PA system by the pilot informative, interesting, or reassuring because I can rarely hear them over the static. Besides he's always announcing Chattanooga on our left when I'm on the right.

And why is it that the pilot always sounds like that old Armageddon voice of the "March of Time" man when he starts: "Now don't get alarmed. We are about to switch engines into a higher speed level. It will seem for a second or two like the engines are stopping, but. . ."

Until then I wasn't alarmed. Why doesn't the big mouth tend to his knitting and keep quiet?

Least of all am I reassured when I buy air insurance at one of those little counters they have at airports. After pressing me for details on amount of coverage, next of kin and beneficiary, the lady then wishes me, in tones of a mortuary: "A pleasant, safe flight."

Somehow I always suspect her interest is more commercial than personal.

The Universal Church of Rome

By George Sokolsky

Whenever a new Pope is to be elected interest usually turns to the strength of the Roman Catholic Church which survives attack from outside or weakness from within.

As history is now written, this is a young religion, not quite 2,000 years old. It is an outgrowth of the appearance of Jesus in Jerusalem and the spread of His doctrine by Paul and his associates among the peoples of the Roman Empire.

Most of the early churches were actually in Jewish synagoges, some of the synagogues going over to the new doctrine altogether. Some divided their buildings between those who accepted the Messiah and those who rejected Him.

Peter preached the gospel in Rome and he became the first bishop of Rome. That does not mean that that was the first Christian church, for there were earlier churches in Palestine, Syria and Greece.

In the early Christian era, the bishop was the head of his particular church and there were differences of opinion as to dogma and church government among the various bishops. In the hope of ending these controversies, particularly as between the Unitarians and the Trinitarians, the Council of Nicea was held in 325 A.D. The Nicene Creed established the basic dogma of the Christian church.

The word, Pope, is perhaps one of the simplest in any language. It comes from the Latin word papa, and means father. The Pope, while he is regarded as the father of Christendom, is also a priest, and in nearly all languages, a Catholic priest is called father.

According to Catholic doctrine, it was Jesus' purpose that the successor to Peter should be the head of the church and therefore the bishop of Rome holds this position and is usually referred to as the Pope or the Holy Father.

Non-Catholic historians have taken the view that it was the decision of the Roman emperor to accept Christianity as a state religion and thus he established the bishop of Rome as the head of the church.

It is easily found in church history that in the earliest period of the church, certainly by the second and third centuries, other Christian communities referred doctrinal matters to Rome for decision, thus establishing the authority of the bishop of Rome by precedent.

Perhaps the cornerstone of the organization of the Catholic Church is the doctrine of the infallibility of the Pope in matters of faith and morals, often referred to in early writings, confirmed by the Council of Florence in 1439 and reconfirmed by the Constitution of July 18, 1870, which finally settled also the matter of primacy.

It is the infallibility of the Pope in matters of faith and morals which makes the Roman Catholic Church universal in organization and dogma.

Archbishop Paul Yu - Pin, who is Chinese, is at home in a Catholic church or Catholic community in any part of the world. There is one church, one liturgy, one set of rules, the exception being, of course the Eastern rites. When the Pope speaks ex - cathedra, it is with the full authority of the church because he speaks from the "Chair of Peter."

There was a time when the church was an important temporal ruler and exercised great worldly powers. Today all that is left of that is the very small area called Vatican City, and the Pope's summer palace.

Nevertheless, without the use of force or the display of power, the Pope execises more influence than ever. He no longer calls upon any government to assist him to establish his power, but by moral suasion, by the sobriety of his life and his devotion to duty, he appeals to the minds and hearts of men.

Among recent Popes, Leo XIII, Pius XI and Pius XII, were particularly significant in their capacity to introduce moral factors into world affairs.

Although the Roman Catholic Church has often lost adherents, as, for instance, the split between Constantinople and Rome, or the Reformation, it has never encountered a situation as difficult as the present one when atheistic communism has made the Church of Rome its special target and has devoted itself to an invasion of Roman Catholic areas, particularly Italy and France.

The church's greatest losses have been such countries as Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia which were profoundly Catholic before the Kremlin took over. In this struggle, the church retaliates with the inspiration of the Miracle of Fatima.

Be Wise about those Between-Meal Snacks

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

BELIEVE it or not, those between-meal snacks might actually be good for some of you.

Some medical investigators found a while back that you are likely to maintain better efficiency if you don't go longer than 4½ hours without food.

Increased Efficiency

Your general inefficiency in the early morning (burnt toast, slow shaving and lack of any sparkling conversation) probably is due to the fact that you have not eaten for several hours. Breakfast, therefore, increases your efficiency.

But Watch Out!

Unless used wisely, however, these extra snacks can be your downfall. They may add poundage without boosting your efficiency at all.

Many of us must watch our calories prety closely. If these snacks are simply added to what you eat during your three regular meals, your walstline will soon show it.

Cut Down Elsewhere

So if you do plan to snack a couple of times during the day, you must compensate for these extra calories by cutting down on each of your three main meals.

Thus, four or five smaller meals might be better for some of you than the three larger meals generally eaten.

Now these snacks must meet your nutritional need. A cup of coffee and a piece of pie or cake won't do. If you don't feel like eating much, try an apple or an orange. Or drink a glass or two of milk.

What about bedtime snacks?

May Promote Sleep

Well, this is pretty much up to the individual. A glass of milk might help you get to sleep more quickly. In fact, some persons find that eating a small "midnight lunch" is conducive to sleep.

Others, however, report that any food before bed keeps them awake. Strong coffee at night, of course, is more apt to keep you awake than to put you to sleep.

Be Careful!

If you do decide to eat anything just before bedtime, make sure it is something that can be digested easily. Milk is readily digested. So are fruits and bread.

Just remember, that, as a rule, there is nothing wrong with these bedtime or between-meal snacks if you eat nourishing food, if you don't eat too much of it, and if you deduct the calorie content from your main meals.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

S.W. Influenza is caused by a virus, and the symptoms usually consist of fever, chills, headache, sore throat, cough, soreness and aches in the back and limbs and exhaustion.

These symptoms are also found in the severe type of the common cold.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

JACK RYAN, of Montana State university, writes about a little old lady up at Flathead Lake who adds to her modest income by digging angleworms for fishermen. Ryan stopped one morning to ask, "How's business?". "I can't complain," she answered cheerfully. "I had a real important man buy some worms yesterday." "How do you mean, real important, Granny?" probed Ryan. "Did he give you a tip?"

"No," admitted Granny, "he didn't give me any extra money—but he didn't count the worms!"

The New Yorker tells about an amateur painter who submitted one of his efforts at his home town art exhibition. Asked over the phone to identify the spot he had painted, he replied, "Wiesbaden, Germany." The caption he found affixed to his masterpiece when the exhibition opened was, "A wee spot in Germany."

The Nation Today

By WARREN ROGERS JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have suggested that political campaigners refrain from debating foreign policy. Each suggested an exception. The exceptions seem to cancel each other out.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday: "There is a very clear distinction to be made with respect to foreign policy as I see it. One is the policy and one is its operation. . . .

"I do not, by any means, decry intelligent questioning and criticism of any particular point. But when it comes to the policy that is being established, I think it has been standing pretty well on its own feet for a long time."

Dulles told his news conference the day before: "I do not think that it is wise that current aspects of foreign policy should be injected in the campaign. I think there are some basic problems of foreign policy which can be discussed in terms of underlying principles."

That would seem to leave Republican and Democratic orators in the congressional campaign in a dilemma. If they discuss current aspects, it would be all right with Eisenhower but not with Dulles. If they talk about established basic policy, Eisenhower might object but not Dulles.

However, the conflict may be more apparent than real. Usually, in such cases Eisenhower's stock comment is that he and Dulles keep in touch and always see eye to eye.

And anyway, few politicians of either party ever show much inclination to avoid discussing foreign policy if it means possible votes.

Eisenhower and Dulles themselves had quite a bit to say about foreign policy in the 1952 campaign.

Eisenhower hit the issue hard in campaign speeches. In Detroit on Oct. 24, 1952, for example he said his first job, if elected, would be to end the war in Korea. He added: "That job requires a personal trip to Korea. I shall make that trip. Only in that way could I learn how best to serve the American people in the cause of peace. I shall go to Korea."

It is generally conceded that Eisenhower's pledge to visit Korea, fulfilled between his election and his inauguration, was a big vote-getter.

Dulles did most of the drafting of the foreign policy plank in the 1952 Republican campaign platform. It lambasted Truman administration foreign policy as having, among other things, "abandoned friendly nations" after World War II and of having "traded our overwhelming victory for a new enemy and for new oppressions and new wars which were quick to come."

Republican campaigners this year probably would welcome Dulles' idea that current aspects of foreign policy should be barred from political debate. That would rule out virtually all criticism of Eisenhower administration foreign policy, since the administration in power always is responsible for the current conduct of foreign affairs.

Federal Debt Up Another Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Debt has risen another billion dollars, to within 334 millions of its all-time high.

The Treasury today made public figures which show that the gross public debt and guaranteed obligations had climbed to $280,487,000,000 last Friday. At the end of 1955 the debt hit a record peak of $280,821,000,000.

Friday's rise was caused by Treasury borrowing of a billion dollars. Earlier in the week the debt climbed even more sharply—nearly $2,700,000,000—as a bigger chunk of the borrowing operation was reflected in Treasury accounting.

There's a good chance the debt will reach a new record early next month if the Treasury continues to borrow 100 million dollars extra each week through its regular sale of Treasury bills.

Three states, Florida, Nevada and Arizona, more than doubled total income in those years, due to population rise mostly. Total personal income in the U. Secretary Brown Improves Services

There should be a public willingness to give credit to an elected official who, instead of merely "riding along" with tide of routine duty, seeks to show progress in his thinking and accomplishments in his office.

When the books are closed on Dec. 31, the year 1958 will go down in Ohio history as the busiest, most eventful and possibly the most fruitful in the way of long-range planning in public service in the office of the Ohio Secretary of State.

For one thing, Secretary of State Ted W. Brown has been outstanding in his close working relations with election boards toward achieving top efficiency in handling of elections and obtaining prompt returns.

He recently estimated that 3,450,000 persons will go to the polls at the coming November election, basing this on registration reports indicating a possible new all - time high record for non - presidential year voting.

He has made every county election board in Ohio conscious of this challenge and of the need for early and, as speedy as possible, returns.

Among other things, Brown has this year brought about the successful completion of a streamline program in the corporation section of the Secretary of State's office in a long - range plan which will eventually place on film all of the thousands of corporation records which have accumulated in that office since 1878.

He initiated a microfilm record service on July 1, 1957, giving himself one year to prove that documents coming in each day could be processed, filmed and returned in their original form in one day and simultaneously make a large "dent" in the backlog of old documents, numbering some 275,000 running from three to 500 pages in length, in placing them on film.

The success of the program was assured even before the advent of 1958 and this year finds the program sailing along on a long - range plan at a saving of badly-needed office space, cluttered by old bulky files, and a cash saving of around $27,000 per year.

Fees received for the filing of such documents and turned into the state's general revenue fund in 1958 will again make Secretary of State Brown's office more than three - times self - sustaining for all its expenditures — administrative, election and corporation activities.

Secretary Brown also has been responsible for adoption of a new method of mailing publicity pamphlets containi n g "pro" and "con" arguments and samples of the ballot on initiated proposed constitutional amendment relative to contracts and practice of employers and labor unions, as required by the Constitution, it will save Ohio taxpayers $65,000. Brown mailed 3 million of these pamphlets in October.

With the 1958 election still to be held, Secretary of State Brown already has instituted studies for the coming year of the laws pertaining to ways of holding-the-line in election administration costs, consistent with Ohio's growing and shifting population and needs for new election services.

I Like Airplanes, But --

By Saul Pett
(For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP)—I like airplanes but:

I don't like the noise, the vibration, the sense of constantly rushing and, of course, the sense of nothing between you and the ground. As far as I can tell, man has gained nothing from the age of flight except the ability to go some place he can't afford.

You can now get from here to there in half the time it takes to claim your luggage.

Airplanes can be uncomfortable. For example:

I can never seem to find the little ash tray on the end of the arm rest. I always seem to grind out my cigaret on my knee.

I think the trays and the silverware and packets of salt and pepper and salad dressing they serve on airplanes are awfully cute, and my kids have enjoyed them for a long time. But I think the meals served on most airplanes are overly ambitious, overly cooked, and overrated. Why, when meals have to be cooked many hours in advance, why do so many airlines insist on serving steak? The steak is so leathery it ought to have a baggage check on it.

I find the stewardesses charming and efficient and solicitous, like hospital nurses wheeling you up to surgery. Instead of these Florence Nightingales, I would prefer the old type of railroad conductor who collected your ticket with a snarl, consulted a huge old watch drawn from his blue serge vest, and then, without a word, retreated to the back of the car to read somebody else's newspapers.

I don't find the announcements made over the PA system by the pilot informative, interesting, or reassuring because I can rarely hear them over the static. Besides he's always announcing Chattanooga on our left when I'm on the right.

And why is it that the pilot always sounds like that old Armageddon voice of the "March of Time" man when he starts: "Now don't get alarmed. We are about to switch engines into a higher speed level. It will seem for a second or two like the engines are stopping, but. . ."

Until then I wasn't alarmed. Why doesn't the big mouth tend to his knitting and keep quiet?

Least of all am I reassured when I buy air insurance at one of those little counters they have at airports. After pressing me for details on amount of coverage, next of kin and beneficiary, the lady then wishes me, in tones of a mortuary: "A pleasant, safe flight."

Somehow I always suspect her interest is more commercial than personal.

The Universal Church of Rome

By George Sokolsky

Whenever a new Pope is to be elected interest usually turns to the strength of the Roman Catholic Church which survives attack from outside or weakness from within.

As history is now written, this is a young religion, not quite 2,000 years old. It is an outgrowth of the appearance of Jesus in Jerusalem and the spread of His doctrine by Paul and his associates among the peoples of the Roman Empire.

Most of the early churches were actually in Jewish synagoges, some of the synagogues going over to the new doctrine altogether. Some divided their buildings between those who accepted the Messiah and those who rejected Him.

Peter preached the gospel in Rome and he became the first bishop of Rome. That does not mean that that was the first Christian church, for there were earlier churches in Palestine, Syria and Greece.

In the early Christian era, the bishop was the head of his particular church and there were differences of opinion as to dogma and church government among the various bishops. In the hope of ending these controversies, particularly as between the Unitarians and the Trinitarians, the Council of Nicea was held in 325 A.D. The Nicene Creed established the basic dogma of the Christian church.

The word, Pope, is perhaps one of the simplest in any language. It comes from the Latin word papa, and means father. The Pope, while he is regarded as the father of Christendom, is also a priest, and in nearly all languages, a Catholic priest is called father.

According to Catholic doctrine, it was Jesus' purpose that the successor to Peter should be the head of the church and therefore the bishop of Rome holds this position and is usually referred to as the Pope or the Holy Father.

Non-Catholic historians have taken the view that it was the decision of the Roman emperor to accept Christianity as a state religion and thus he established the bishop of Rome as the head of the church.

It is easily found in church history that in the earliest period of the church, certainly by the second and third centuries, other Christian communities referred doctrinal matters to Rome for decision, thus establishing the authority of the bishop of Rome by precedent.

Perhaps the cornerstone of the organization of the Catholic Church is the doctrine of the infallibility of the Pope in matters of faith and morals, often referred to in early writings, confirmed by the Council of Florence in 1439 and reconfirmed by the Constitution of July 18, 1870, which finally settled also the matter of primacy.

It is the infallibility of the Pope in matters of faith and morals which makes the Roman Catholic Church universal in organizati o n and dogma.

Archbishop Paul Yu - Pin, who is Chinese, is at home in a Catholic church or Catholic community in any part of the world. There is one church, one liturgy, one set of rules, the exception being, of course the Eastern rites. When the Pope speaks ex - cathedra, it is with the full authority of the church because he speaks from the "Chair of Peter."

There was a time when the church was an important temporal ruler and exercised great worldly powers. Today all that is left of that is the very small area called Vatican City, and the Pope's summer palace.

Nevertheless, without the use of force or the display of power, the Pope execises more influence than ever. He no longer calls upon any government to assist him to establish his power, but by moral suasion, by the sobriety of his life and his devotion to duty, he appeals to the minds and hearts of men.

Among recent Popes, Leo XIII, Pius XI and Pius XII, were particularly significant in their capacity to introduce moral factors into world affairs.

Although the Roman Catholic Church has often lost adherents, as, for instance, the split between Constantinople and Rome, or the Reformation, it has never encountered a situation as difficult as the present one when atheistic communism has made the Church of Rome its special target and has devoted itself to an invasion of Roman Catholic areas, particularly Italy and France.

The church's greatest losses have been such countries as Poland, Hungary and Czechoslovakia which were profoundly Catholic before the Kremlin took over. In this struggle, the church retaliates with the inspiration of the Miracle of Fatima.

The Nation Today

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have suggested that political campaigners refrain from debating foreign policy. Each suggested an exception. The exceptions seem to cancel each other out.

Eisenhower told his news conference Wednesday: "There is a very clear distinction to be made with respect to foreign policy as I see it. One is the policy and one is its operation. . . .

"I do not, by any means, decry intelligent questioning and criticism of any particular point. But when it comes to the policy that is being established, I think it has been standing pretty well on its own feet for a long time."

Dulles told his news conference the day before: "I do not think that it is wise that current aspects of foreign policy should be injected in the campaign. I think there are some basic problems of foreign policy which can be discussed in terms of underlying principles."

That would seem to leave Republican and Democratic orators in the congressional campaign in a dilemma. If they discuss current aspects, it would be all right with Eisenhower but not with Dulles. If they talk about established basic policy, Eisenhower might object but not Dulles.

However, the conflict may be more apparent than real. Usually, in such cases Eisenhower's stock comment is that he and Dulles keep in touch and always see eye to eye.

And anyway, few politicians of either party ever show much inclination to avoid discussing foreign policy if it means possible votes.

Eisenhower and Dulles themselves had quite a bit to say about foreign policy in the 1952 campaign.

Eisenhower hit the issue hard in campaign speeches. In Detroit on Oct. 24, 1952, for example he said his first job, if elected, would be to end the war in Korea. He added: "That job requires a personal trip to Korea. I shall make that trip. Only in that way could I learn how best to serve the American people in the cause of peace. I shall go to Korea."

It is generally conceded that Eisenhower's pledge to visit Korea, fulfilled between his election and his inauguration, was a big vote-getter.

Dulles did most of the drafting of the foreign policy plank in the 1952 Republican campaign platform. It lambasted Truman administration foreign policy as having, among other things, "abandoned friendly nations" after World War II and of having "traded our overwhelming victory for a new enemy and for new oppressions and new wars which were quick to come."

Republican campaigners this year probably would welcome Dulles' idea that current aspects of foreign policy should be barred from political debate. That would rule out virtually all criticism of Eisenhower administration foreign policy, since the administration in power always is responsible for the current conduct of foreign affairs.

How Appraisals Are Made, Taxes Levied...

Since Fayette County recently completed the reappraisal of all its real estate properties, as required by law approximately every six years, and its annual tax duplicate is being set up accordingly, property owners will be interested in official information relating to the appraising and taxing of real property in this and other counties of Ohio.

A few days ago Fred F. Becker, chief of the division of county affairs for the Ohio Department of Taxation, visited this county. While here a representative of the Record-Herald asked him to prepare answers to questions applicable to the Ohio rules of appraising and taxing, and the rights of the taxpayer.

He complied with this request, also answering questions relating to duties of the county auditor as the assessor of real property in each county. The list of questions and answers follows:

Q. WHAT IS the unit for assessing real estate for taxation purposes?

A. Each county shall be the unit for assessing real property for taxation purposes.

Q. Who is the assessor of real property?

A. The county auditor is the chief assessing officer of his county and shall list and value the real property within his county for taxation purposes under the direction and supervision of the state board of tax appeals.

There shall also be a board in each county known as the county board of revision which shall hear complaints and revise assessments of real property for taxation.

Q. Do county auditors have the authority to determine when or how real property shall be appraised, revalued and assessed for taxation purposes?

A. No. The county auditor, as chief assessor in his county, is required by law to comply with all statutory enactments relating to the assessing of real property and the rules and regulations adopted by the board of tax appeals. If the county auditor fails or refuses to perform his duties as assessor as set forth in Chapter 5713 of the Revised Code, the state board of tax appeals may order a reassessment of all or any part of the real property in any taxing district or subdivision. When so ordered the county auditor shall proceed to make such reassessment in the manner provided by law for making original assessments. (Sections 5715.33 and 5715.34, R. C.)

Q. DOES A COUNTY auditor have the final authority to determine whether the real property and the various classes thereof in his county have been assessed in compliance with the rules and regulations of the state board of tax appeals and laws relating to assessing real property?

A. No. The state board of tax appeals is required to act upon the assessments for the current tax tax year. They may approve the assessments as transmitted by the county auditor or order increases or decreases in the aggregate value of all or any part or class of real property in the county.

Q. What penalty is imposed if the county auditor fails, neglects or refuses to comply with the order of any class of real property?

A. The state board shall direct the auditor of state to withhold from such county or taxing district, 50 per cent of its share in the distribution of state revenues to local governments (sales tax and tax on intangibles) pursuant to Chapter 5739 of the Revised Code, and 50 per cent of the amounts due to school districts from the public school foundation fund as provided in Chapter 3317 of the Revised Code, if the county auditor fails to comply with the order of the board of tax appeals within 90 days.

Q. Is the county auditor required to personally view and appraise real property in his county?

A. No.

Q. How does the county auditor assess real property for taxation purposes?

A. With the approval of the board of tax appeals, he may appoint and employ such experts, deputies, clerks and other employees he deems necessary to the performance of his duties as assessor.

Q. Is the county auditor required to assess real estate for tax purposes at any stated or particular time?

A. Yes. The auditor is required to assess all the real estate situated in his county at least once in each six-year period beginning with the year 1943.

Q. How shall real property be assessed?

A. Article XII, Section 2 of the Constitution of Ohio reads in part as follows: "Land and improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value."

Section 5713.01, R. C. provides: "The auditor shall assess all the real estate situated in the county at its ture value in money."

Q. HAVE ASSESSORS complied with the constitutional and statutory requirements to assess real property according to its true value in money?

A. No. The General Assembly on May 10, 1910, passed an Act creating the Tax Commission of Ohio. The same General Assembly, on the same day, passed another Act commonly known as the "Smith One Per Cent Law". The purpose of the latter Act as set forth in the title was: "To secure an equitable valuation of property for taxation by limiting the tax rate, limiting the power to issue bonds, removing certain penalties for improper valuation and amending certain sections of the General Code."

As a result of the anactment of H. B. 68 and S. B. 4, the newly created gax commission ordered increases in the assessed valuations of all real property in the state effective in the year 1911. Increases over the 1910 valuations by counties ranged from 74 to 379 per cent. The statewide increase was 154 per cent. The tax commission, from the best sources of information available, attempted to assess all real property according to value.

The tax commission collected sales data in the years 1925 and 1926 for the purpose of determining the ratio of assessed valuations to sales considerations to be used in equalizing assessed valuations of real property for the tax year 1926. Their report indicated that real property was appraised from 70 to 115 per cent of sales value. The commission used 85 per cent of value as a starting point in ordering adjustments by counties for the year 1926.

No general vevaluation of all real property for taxation purposes, on a state-wide basis, was made from 1926 until 1949. During the depression, valuations were decreased in all counties. Tax assessors were reluctant to increase assessed valuations after the depression. To remedy this condition, the 98th General Assembly enacted H. B. 644 effective October 25, 1949, for the purpose, as stated in the title of the Act: "To Equalize the Real Property Valuations Within the State for the Purposes of Taxation". The board of tax appeals complied with the legislative mandate by determining that it was the duty of the board to equalize the assessed value of property in the aggregate. It did not attempt to fix the value of any particular tract or parcel as the assessing of real property is the duty of the county auditor. The board informed the county auditor of each county that for the tax year 1952, the real property within each county, taken in the aggregate, should be valued not less than 50 per cent of the sales price determined by a formula based on data relating to real estate sales for a period of three years.

Q. Did the enactment of H. B. 644 provide additional tax revenue to the State of Ohio?

A. No. Each dollar assessed, levied and collected by the county auditor and county treasurer remains in the county, except for the State levy of.20 mill for the payment of bonds issued to compensate veterans of World War II and .30 mill for the payment of bonds issued to compensate veterans of the Korean Conflict.

Q. WHY WAS H. B. 644 enacted if the State of Ohio does not receive any part of the taxes locally assessed and collected.

A. Prior to the year 1925, practically all of the revenues for the support of local governments were the proceeds of the general property taxes assessed, collected and distributed in each county. Since that time local government has demanded and received subsides, grants in-aid and shared taxes from the state. At the time H. B. 644 was enacted, the state was providing approximately 48 per cent or 48 cents out of each dollar expended by counties, towns hips, schools and municipalities for local government.

The distribution of state moneys, in the amount of hundreds of millions of dollars annually, is in part based upon the assessed valuation of property. It is apparent that unless the valuation of property - the base of the uniform tax system - is equitable and fair and made to conform with a standardized method on a state-wide basis, that certain districts will benefit by a low valuation and in other districts where the law is fairly and impartially administered, the district will be penalized for good administration.

Q. Is the amount of a tax levied by a taxing authority - county commissioners, township trustees, board of education or municipal corporation - determined by the assessed valuation?

A. No.

Q. How are taxes determined and levied?

A. Annually, the taxing authority of each taxing subdivision in the state is required to adopt a budget setting forth the financial needs of the taxing district for the subsequent year. If people residing in a particular taxing subdivision request and demand more services from government, the taxing authorities must increase the tax rate. However, taxing authorities cannot levy in excess of 1 per cent or 10 mills in any taxing unit in any year without the approval of at least a majority of the electors voting on the question of an additional tax rate. If the current tax rate in any taxing subdivision is in excess of 1 per cent or 10 mills, the excess over the 10 mill limitation was authorized by at least a majority of the electors voting on the question.

Q. Is there any administrative remedy whereby assessed valuations on specific parcels may be revised or corrected?

A. Yes.

Q. HOW MAY a taxpayer proceed to take advantage of his legal remedies?

A. 1. Any taxpayer may file a complaint as to the valuation or assessment of his own or another's real proprety which appears upon the tax list and tax duplicate of the current tax year.

2. Complaints must be filed with the county auditor on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year, or any time during which taxes are received by the county treasurer without penalty for the first half year.

3. The county auditor is required to present to the county board of revision all complaints filed with him.

4. Each complaint shall state the amount of overvaluation, undervaluation, or illegal valuation complained of.

5. The complaint shall relate back to the date when the lien for taxes for the current year attached.

Q. May a taxpayer tender, and the county treasurer accept, the amount of taxes on what the taxpayer contends is the correct valuation?

A. Yes.

Q. Must the treasurer accept the amount of taxes tendered?

A. No.

Q. If a tender of taxes is not accepted by the treasurer, will a penalty be assessed because of non-payment?

A. When a taxpayer tenders to the treasurer taxes on what the taxpayer claims is the correct valuation, and thereafter the board of revision, board of tax appeals or the court fixes a value greater than the claimed valuation, the treasurer is required to charge a penalty on the difference between the amount tendered and the taxes assessed on the property after the valuation has been determined by the final reviewing authority.

Q. Is it necessary to use the prescribed form for filing a complaint with the board of revision?

A. Yes. The printed prescribed form enables the taxpayer to use check marks to describe kind, size and description of buildings and land, and can be used in describing various classes of real property.

Q. IS IT NECESSARY to have an attorney make out and file a complaint?

A. Optional with the taxpayer.

Q. What is meant by the "current year"?

A. The words "current year" as used in Ohio Tax Laws means the "current tax year" and not "current calendar year". "Current tax period" is a more accurate definition of the term. Real and public utility taxes collected and distributed in the calendar year 1959 became a lien on the first day of January 1958. The so-called tax year should be referred to as the current tax period, running from the first day of January of one year to the tenth day of October, or later, of the ensuing year - a minimum period of 21 months and 10 days.

Does the payment of taxes abate a complaint or appeal?

A. No. Taxes paid after the enactment of secion 5609-2 General Code effective August 14, 1941, (now section 5715.21 of the Revised Code) shall not abate the complaint or appeal, or in any way affected the hearing and determination therof.

Q. May a taxpayer appeal from a decision of a county board of revision?

A. Yes. An appeal from a decision of a county board of revision may be taken to the board of tax appeals within thirty days after notice of the decision of the county board of revision is mailed, as provided in Section 5715.20, R. C. The board of tax appeals may order the appeal to be heard upon the record and the evidence certified to it by the county board of revision, or it may order the hearing of additional evidence, and it may make such investigation concerning the appeal as it deems proper.

Q. May a taxpayer appeal from a decision of the board of tax appeals?

A. Yes. Taxpayer may appeal to the supreme court or to the court of appeals for the county in which the property taxes is stiuated, or in which the taxpayer resides. The decision of the board of tax appeals shall become final and conclusive for the current year unless reversed, vacated or modified as provided in section 5717.04 of the Revised Code.

Q. MAY A TAXPAYER appeal from a decision of the county board of revision to the court of common pleas?

A. Yes. As an alternative to the appeal provided for in section 5717.01 of the Revised Code, an appeal from the decision of a county board of revision may be taken directly to the court of common pleas of the county by the person in whose name the property is listed or sought to be listed for taxation.

Q. Who may administer the oath required when filing a complaint?

A. The county auditor and his deputies may administer any oath necessary in the discharge of the duties of their office. Each member of a county board of revision and the chief clerk of such board may administer oaths.

"In my opinion, appraising and assessing real property for taxation purposes should remain a local function, administered by local taxing authorities with the state board of tax appeals supervising and cooperating with local officials to assess all property on a standardized basis," Becker said.

"Valuation is the measuring stick used to fix and determine the share, proportion, or percentage of each taxpayer to the total needs of the subdivision.

"The tax rate, fixed annually and based upon the financial needs and requirements of the subdivision, determines the amount of taxes levied and collected. If taxes are too high on either local, state or federal level, electors have the power to reverse the trend of requesting and demanding government to finance and supervise the ever-growing and expanding list of governmental activities.

"Intelligent voters and taxpayers should know that it is impossible to increase governmental handouts, subsidies, grants-in-aid and shared taxes, and at the same time reduce taxes. The only way any government, either local, state or federal, can obtain money is by borrowing or taxing. In either case the money must be collected from the taxpayers."

How Appraisals Are Made, Taxes Levied...

Since Fayette County recently completed the reappraisal of all its real estate properties, as required by law approximately every six years, and its annual tax duplicate is being set up accordingly, property owners will be interested in official information relating to the appraising and taxing of real property in this and other counties of Ohio.

A few days ago Fred F. Becker, chief of the division of county affairs for the Ohio Department of Taxation, visited this county. While here a representative of the Record-Herald asked him to prepare answers to questions applicable to the Ohio rules of appraising and taxing, and the rights of the taxpayer.

He complied with this request, also answering questions relating to duties of the county auditor as the assessor of real property in each county. The list of questions and answers follows:

Q. WHAT IS the unit for assessing real estate for taxation purposes?

A. Each county shall be the unit for assessing real property for taxation purposes.

Q. Who is the assessor of real property?

A. The county auditor is the chief assessing officer of his county and shall list and value the real property within his county for taxation purposes under the direction and supervision of the state board of tax appeals.

There shall also be a board in each county known as the county board of revision which shall hear complaints and revise assessments of real property for taxation.

Q. Do county auditors have the authority to determine when or how real property shall be appraised, revalued and assessed for taxation purposes?

A. No. The county auditor, as chief assessor in his county, is required by law to comply with all statutory enactments relating to the assessing of real property and the rules and regulations adopted by the board of tax appeals. If the county auditor fails or refuses to perform his duties as assessor as set forth in Chapter 5713 of the Revised Code, the state board of tax appeals may order a reassessment of all or any part of the real property in any taxing district or subdivision. When so ordered the county auditor shall proceed to make such reassessment in the manner provided by law for making original assessments. (Sections 5715.33 and 5715.34, R. C.)

Q. DOES A COUNTY auditor have the final authority to determine whether the real property and the various classes thereof in his county have been assessed in compliance with the rules and regulations of the state board of tax appeals and laws relating to assessing real property?

A. No. The state board of tax appeals is required to act upon the assessments for the current tax tax year. They may approve the assessments as transmitted by the county auditor or order increases or decreases in the aggregate value of all or any part or class of real property in the county.

Q. What penalty is imposed if the county auditor fails, neglects or refuses to comply with the or- aggregate value of real property or any class of real property?

A. The state board shall direct the auditor of state to withhold from such county or taxing district, 50 per cent of its share in the distribution of state revenues to local governments (sales tax and tax on intangibles) pursuant to Chapter 5739 of the Revised Code, and 50 per cent of the amounts due to school districts from the public school foundation fund as provided in Chapter 3317 of the Revised Code, if the county auditor fails to comply with the order of the board of tax appeals within 90 days.

Q. Is the county auditor required to personally view and appraise real property in his county?

A. No.

Q. How does the county auditor assess real property for taxation purposes?

A. With the approval of the board of tax appeals, he may appoint and employ such experts, deputies, clerks and other employees he deems necessary to the performance of his duties as assessor.

Q. Is the county auditor required to assess real estate for tax purposes at any stated or particular time?

A. Yes. The auditor is required to assess all the real estate situated in his county at least once in each six-year period beginning with the year 1943.

Q. How shall real property be assessed?

A. Article XII, Section 2 of the Constitution of Ohio reads in part as follows: "Land and improvements thereon shall be taxed by uniform rule according to value."

Section 5713.01, R. C. provides: "The auditor shall assess all the real estate situated in the county at its ture value in money."

Q. HAVE ASSESSORS complied with the constitutional and statutory requirements to assess real property according to its true value in money?

A. No. The General Assembly on May 10, 1910, passed an Act creating the Tax Commission of Ohio. The same General Assembly, on the same day, passed another Act commonly known as the "Smith One Per Cent Law". The purpose of the latter Act as set forth in the title was: "To secure an equitable valuation of property for taxation by limiting the tax rate, limiting the power to issue bonds, removing certain penalties for improper valuation and amending certain sections of the General Code."

As a result of the anactment of H. B. 68 and S. B. 4, the newly created gax commission ordered increases in the assessed valuations of all real property in the state effective in the year 1911. Increases over the 1910 valuations by counties ranged from 74 to 379 per cent. The statewide increase was 154 per cent. It did not attempt to fix the value of any particular tract or parcel as the assessing of real property is the duty of the county auditor. The board informed the county auditor of each county that for the tax year 1952, the real property within each county, taken in the aggregate, should be valued not less than 50 per cent of the sales price determined by a formula based on data relating to real estate sales for a period of three years.

Q. Did the enactment of H. B. 644 provide additional tax revenue to the State of Ohio?

A. No. Each dollar assessed, levied and collected by the county auditor and county treasurer remains in the county, except for the State levy of .20 mill for the payment of bonds issued to compensate veterans of World War II and .30 mill for the payment of bonds issued to compensate veterans of the Korean Conflict.

Q. HOW MAY a taxpayer proceed to take advantage of his legal remedies?

A. 1. Any taxpayer may file a complaint as to the valuation or assessment of his own or another's real proprety which appears upon the tax list and tax duplicate of the current tax year.

2. Complaints must be filed with the county auditor on or before the time limited for payment of taxes for the first half year, or any time during which taxes are received by the county treasurer without penalty for the first half year.

3. The county auditor is required to present to the county board of revision all complaints filed with him.

4. Each complaint shall state the amount of overvaluation, undervaluation, or illegal valuation complained of.

5. The complaint shall relate back to the date when the lien for taxes for the current year attached.

Q. May a taxpayer tender, and the county treasurer accept, the amount of taxes on what the taxpayer contends is the correct valuation?

Q. May a taxpayer appeal from a decision of a county board of revision?

A. Yes. An appeal from a decision of a county board of revision may be taken to the board of tax appeals within thirty days after notice of the decision of the county board of revision is mailed, as provided in Section 5715.20, R. C. The board of tax appeals may order the appeal to be heard upon the record and the evidence certified to it by the county board of revision, or it may order the hearing of additional evidence, and it may make such investigation concerning the appeal as it deems proper.

Q. May a taxpayer appeal from a decision of the board of tax appeals?

A. Yes. Taxpayer may appeal to the supreme court or to the court of appeals for the county in which the property taxes is stiuated, or in which the taxpayer resides. "Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband and I are very happily married. However, my husband's aunt, who is his only relative in the city (I have none) seems to try deliberately to start a confusion between us.

On numerous occasions she has talked against my working in an office, with only my boss. Incidentally we do need the extra income that my employment brings.

On other occasions she has let me know, in no uncertain terms, that their family business and problems do not include me. Should I (or not) consider myself a part of my husband's family?

My husband is well aware of her attitudes and admits she is wrong; but he insists that I should be the one to "get her off my back" (as he puts it), since we are both women.

I think he should discuss with her these insinuations and embarrassing comments—as I think that my speaking up for myself, to his aunt Ida, would only cause a bitter misunderstanding.

We see her only once a week; but this is becoming too strenuous for me. Were this problem settled, my husband and I would have a perfect marriage.

V.R.

DEAR V.R.: If you were obliged to cope with a cactus plant, or a lively porcupine, in your daily routine, you probably would make an effort to learn how to deal in a gingerly way with these pricely objects—so as to keep personal discomfort to a minimum.

Well, much the same common sense should apply to your encounters with your aunt-in-law. Instead of construing her disagreeable attitude as a personal affront, or a personal attack upon yourself, recognize it for what it is— namely, her habitual reaction to her own emotional convictions about people. (Or to her own "private logic," as psychiatrists say.)

To have some schooling in psychological awareness of human behavior (as practiced by oneself and others), is to recognize readily, after a time, that most people behave in a self-engrossed way, for the most part. That is to say, they go about "acting themselves," rather than adapting their thoughts, speech and feelings to the realities of the immediate situation involving other persons.

Take a tip from your husband's example. He faces the fact that she is a problem personality; and he foresightedly gives her the porcupine treatment to the best of his ability—in terms of trying to avoid verbal collisions with her, as a matter of policy.

Trying to do battle with Aunt Ida's busybodyism of mind and tongue is pure waste of vitality. You can't win on that level because she's not interested in getting at fact and truth.

However, I don't advise being a doormat. Talk back sharply, if she flatly ventures a false charge. But don't brood on her nuisance-bias, in between. She is a sour stale personality, I gather, gone to seed in an empty life — and compulsively active in "sidewalk superintending" the business of others, in a jealous vein, just to keep occupied.

Berlin's Smuggling Traffic Is World's Greatest

By OMER ANDERSON
Central Press Assn.

BERLIN — Despite its isolation behind the Iron Curtain, West Berlin has become a world fashion center, and some of its most imaginative haute couture is contributed by its legions of smugglers.

Berlin has one of the world's largest fashion industires— and it has the biggest smuggling traffic— hands down— of any city on earth.

Smuggling haute couture has its own style shifts. However, they involve mainly pockets and padding, the hemline (long) and the waistline (full) remaining constant. And it is the police, not Balenciaga nor Oestergaard, who dictate smuggler styles.

Basically, the idea behind a smuggler creation is placing capacious pockets in garments without distorting the normal silhouet. However, in execution, multiple problems must be conquered.

POCKETS must be large (holding a minimum four pounds of coffee or its equivalent) and so placed as to distribute evenly the weight of the smuggler's cargo.

Textiles are no less important to smuggler haute couture than to the Paris version. They should be strong and porous. Preferably, the material should give the illusion of thickness.

Berlin is 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain, and the city, in turn, is split by a "Little Iron Curtain" sealing Communist East Berlin from free West Berlin.

These two curtains create the smuggling traffic. The West German mark (24 cents) has quaruple the value of the Communist mark.

Hence, the East Berliner or the East German with anything sclable in the West acts by reflex: he heads for West Berlin.

WEST GERMANY'S stiff tax structure stimulates smuggling. Taxes lift the price of a pound of coffee to $2.50 and a pack of cigarets to 50 cents.

Coffee is the "hard currency" of the smuggling traffic, but anything of worth moves briskly;

field glasses, cameras, radios and porcelain.

East Germany produces high-quality optics and electronics. Pilferage is heavy, most of the pilfered products entering the smuggling traffic.

Berlin is a smugglers' paradise. The Little Iron Curtain is pierced by the elevated express and the subway. The city's artificial division between East and West precludes any passport - type frontier passenger controls.

SMART SMUGGLERS use elevated or the subway. They move easily across the city's little frontier, screened by the heavy transit traffic.

Smuggler fashion has that lost-in-the-crowd look. It accents grays and blacks. And it is most lavish with "foundation" accessories.

The basic problem confronting the designer of smuggler fashions was dryly put by a West Berlin customs inspector:

"We catch most of our smugglers by just looking at their faces. If they're perspiring, we search them, particularly if it's a cold day.

East German Reds Plead for Medics

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany today virtually begged hundreds of its doctors who have fled westward to return to their practices in the satellite nation.

Prof. Kurt Hager, a secretary of the Communist Party's Central Committee, made the plea as a critical shortage of hospital physicians and family doctors was reported from all over East Germany.

Nearly 500 doctors have fled the satellite since the beginning of this year because of political interference in their professional and private lives.

Minestrone Makes Good Lunch

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Food Editor

Peep into the recipe files of almost any good cook nowadays, and the chances are you'll find her pet ways of varying canned soups. And we don't mean using these versatile products as sauces for foods or in casserole dishes, but as plain soup.

Now the Italian vegetable soup called minestrone comes in a can and even this combination, with its dozen or so ingredients, lends itself to home-kitchen variation.

Team it, for example, with a small can of tomatoes and some extra seasonings to serve as a main course for lunch. Crusty French bread, swathed with garlic butter and heated, is a perfect complement to the soup.

Incredients: 1 can (10¾ ounces) condensed minestrone, water, 1 can (10 ounces) tomatoes, ¾ teaspoon salt, pepper, 1 teaspoon sugar, minced fresh or dried basil, grated Parmesan or Romano cheese.

Method: Turn minestrone into a medium-sized saucepan; fill the soup can with water and add. Mix in the tomatoes, including the juice, salt, pepper to taste and the sugar. Heat slowly, stirring several times, to boiling; simmer 5 to 10 minutes (or longer) to develop flavors, adding basil to taste a few minutes before serving. Accompany the soup with the grated cheese.

MINESTONE AS MAIN DISH. Add a can of tomatoes and extra seasonings to this Italian vegetable soup and serve with crusty French bread, covered with garlic butter. It makes a main course for lunch.

Berlin's Smuggling Traffic Is World's Greatest

By OMER ANDERSON
Central Press Assn.

BERLIN — Despite its isolation behind the Iron Curtain, West Berlin has become a world fashion center, and some of its most imaginative haute couture is contributed by its legions of smugglers.

Berlin has one of the world's largest fashion industires— and it has the biggest smuggling traffic— hands down— of any city on earth.

Smuggling haute couture has its own style shifts. However, they involve mainly pockets and padding, the hemline (long) and the waistline (full) remaining constant. And it is the police, not Balenciaga nor Oestergaard, who dictate smuggler styles.

Basically, the idea behind a smuggler creation is placing capacious pockets in garments without distorting the normal silhouet. However, in execution, multiple problems must be conquered.

POCKETS must be large (holding a minimum four pounds of coffee or its equivalent) and so placed as to distribute evenly the weight of the smuggler's cargo.

Textiles are no less important to smuggler haute couture than to the Paris version. They should be strong and porous. Preferably, the material should give the illusion of thickness.

Berlin is 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain, and the city, in turn, is split by a "Little Iron Curtain" sealing Communist East Berlin from free West Berlin.

These two curtains create the smuggling traffic. The West German mark (24 cents) has quaruple the value of the Communist mark.

Hence, the East Berliner or the East German with anything sclable in the West acts by reflex: he heads for West Berlin.

WEST GERMANY'S stiff tax structure stimulates smuggling. Taxes lift the price of a pound of coffee to $2.50 and a pack of cigarets to 50 cents.

Coffee is the "hard currency" of the smuggling traffic, but anything of worth moves briskly;

field glasses, cameras, radios and porcelain.

East Germany produces high-quality optics and electronics. Pilferage is heavy, most of the pilfered products entering the smuggling traffic.

Berlin is a smugglers' paradise. The Little Iron Curtain is pierced by the elevated express and the subway. The city's artificial division between East and West precludes any passport - type frontier passenger controls.

SMART SMUGGLERS use elevated or the subway. They move easily across the city's little frontier, screened by the heavy transit traffic.

Smuggler fashion has that lost-in-the-crowd look. It accents grays and blacks. And it is most lavish with "foundation" accessories.

The basic problem confronting the designer of smuggler fashions was dryly put by a West Berlin customs inspector:

"We catch most of our smugglers by just looking at their faces. If they're perspiring, we search them, particularly if it's a cold day.

Laws Lacking For Atom Age

State Attorney Says Legal Revision Needed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The United States is not legally prepared for the atomic age.

Atty. Gen. Fred Standley of New Mexico made that statement here Tuesday before a meeting of scientists, governmental officials and industrialists on the applications of atomic energy to industry.

"No state is at this time legally prepared for industrial atomic development," Standley said. "The laws are not geared to it."

Among the legal problems to be faced, Standley said, are zoning codes which must be updated to accommodate atomic installations; Workmen's compensation laws which must be expanded to cover radiation sickness, and transportation laws which have no provision for governing the transfer of nuclear materials.

Marvin M. Mann, an assistant director of the Atomic Energy Commission's inspection program, said the majority of AEC licenses are making competent efforts to protect their employes and the public from radiation hazards and that contamination accidents have been rare.

The three-day conference sponsored by the Atomic Industrial Forum, a non-profit atomic development organization, ends today.

Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield of Kentucky told the conference that the states must stand ready to form regional compacts to aid atomic development or see the field completely dominated by the federal government.

He said the decision taken by the southern governor's conference at Lexington, Ky., last month to set up an atomic energy compact covering the 16 southern states may become a milestone in the administration of the atom.

The regional advisory council of the governor's conference is now working on a pilot compact for submission to the 1959 governor's conference, Waterfield said.

He said such inter-state compacts also would provide for orderly standardized regulatory laws governing the atom and help establish sound federal-state relationships in the field.

Ohio Idle Pay List Continues To Show Decline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The number of Ohioans collecting unemployment benefits continues to shrink. As of last Saturday the total was down to 159,138.

That amounts to a drop of more than 5,000 in a week and a decrease of about 17,000 below the Sept. 20 figure.

Last week's benefit figures compiled by the Bureau of Unemployment Compensation (BUC) show however, that 3,556 Ohioans exhausted their regular 26-week benefits during the week and another 1,060 exhausted their temporary benefits. These special benefits, approved by the Legislature in June, extend payments for a maximum of 13 weeks to those who are still unemployed after exhausting regular benefits.

Money Policies Getting Closer Scrutiny Now

Role of Financiers In Triggering of Any Recession Eyed

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Money policies of the United States are being eyed today as rarely before for their role in everyone's everyday life.

The public asks what part the money managers play in: triggering a recession, causing unemployment, stifling a recovery, chipping away at the purchasing power of the dollar. People ask how much the money managers can do in: starting a boom and keeping it going, encouraging investments that mean more jobs, controlling inflation, making it easier for people to buy homes or automobiles, assuring citizens that their savings and pensions will be enough to provide for them in their old age.

Money policies, in a word, come closer home year by year.

Today some 60 leaders of industry, labor, government, banking, education and the professions are opening a four day discussion of all phases of United States monetary policies. They are meeting at Arden House in Harriman, N. Y., under the sponsorship of the American Assembly, set up in 1950 by General Eisenhower when he was president of Columbia University.

Also today a group of businessmen gathered in New York under the auspices of the American Management Assn. studying the time schedule of the present upturn are hearing how changes in monetary policies can bring one about.

Beryl W. Sprinkel, economist of the Harris Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, tells them "the change in the rate of growth of the money supply is a fundamental factor initiating business downturns and upturns."

He says a study of these cycles since 1909 shows that all declines have been preceded by a cut in the rate of growth in the money supply, although at first a rise in turnover of money delayed the impact for a short time.

He adds that all business recoveries have been preceded by a rise in monetary growth with a time lag averaging seven months. And finally, in all these cycles, he says, the size of the fluctuation in monetary growth has been closely related to the size of the recession or the boom.

Sprinkel holds that U. S. money managers — principally the Federal Reserve Board which largely controls the changes in the growth of the money supply — should study the inevitable time lag between changes in monetary growth and its effect upon the business trend.

And he wants the money managers to avoid "extreme fluctuations in monetary growth similar to those preceding substantial recessions in the past."

In other words, Federal Reserve Board members have to be mighty good guessers and act before you have noticed anything happening if they're to assure you of the monetary, business and employment stability you are coming to expect.

Money Policies Getting Closer Scrutiny Now

Role of Financiers In Triggering of Any Recession Eyed

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Money policies of the United States are being eyed today as rarely before for their role in everyone's everyday life.

The public asks what part the money managers play in: triggering a recession, causing unemployment, stifling a recovery, chipping away at the purchasing power of the dollar. People ask how much the money managers can do in: starting a boom and keeping it going, encouraging investments that mean more jobs, controlling inflation, making it easier for people to buy homes or automobiles, assuring citizens that their savings and pensions will be enough to provide for them in their old age.

Money policies, in a word, come closer home year by year.

Today some 60 leaders of industry, labor, government, banking, education and the professions are opening a four day discussion of all phases of United States monetary policies. They are meeting at Arden House in Harriman, N. Y., under the sponsorship of the American Assembly, set up in 1950 by General Eisenhower when he was president of Columbia University.

Lonely Betty Blythe

Siren Star of Silent Screen Regrets Not Raising Family

By RALPH FRIEDMAN
Central Press Assn.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—"I never look back," says Betty Blythe.

"If I did I'd cry an ocean of tears. However, if I had my life to live over again I'd have my husband and six children. When you're old, no glories of past can make up for loneliness. And now—all I have are my two dogs. I live alone and walk my dogs and wait for work."

The still attractive 59-year-old "siren" star of the silent screen has lived in the shadows of loneliness for four years, since her husband, Paul Scardon, died. The two had been happily wed for 34 years.

"I sacrificed having children for the glamor of stardom," laments the tall, dignified actress, still active in the movies, as well as on television.

"WHEN I WAS a glamor queen, in the heyday of what I call the 'gorgeous era,' stars weren't supposed to be married. Their fans wouldn't stand for it. Marriage was not regarded as proper for romantic figures. So I chose fame, until it was too late to have a family."

In the silent movie days, Miss Blythe appeared in 300 movies, and starred in 50 of them. She appeared in such famous films as "The Queen of Sheba," "The Darling of the Rich", "Jacob's Well", "Girl of the Limberlost" and "She".

"When I was a star," Betty recalls, "my husband was introduced as my business manager. I couldn't admit to being married; I could not have babies. Now I tell the young chicks who are starring today to have babies.

"The industry will let them dow their families won't. I know what a stark, staring, blank world life can be when you're alone."

THE YEARS have given Betty Blythe a sense of humility that would have been completely alien to her when she was a star. "Oh, I was high and mighty in those days," she admits, "I was one of the great.

"And where are we now, with all the vainglorious notions we had of ourselves? What did our stuffed egoes bring us? Life moved on: it didn't pause for us. Well, that's all done. I don't like self-pity."

PLACING a still photo from one of her siren days on the table of her small apartment, she comments: "I haven't looked at this for a long, long time. Those old pictures don't interest me. I had to rummage through the closet to find this.

"I don't want to be like the once-great actress who spends hours every night sitting on a thick rug, with her pictures around her and, in the soft light of the room, relive the old days. Isn't that a nightmarish thing to consider?"

Betty Blythe today.

For Betty Blythe there is only work, the hope of work, and her two aging dogs. Her apartment is crammed full of citations and testimonials and loving cups she received in her stardom days However, she rarely glances at them.

"I put them up out of habit," Betty says. "I think I'll take them down some day and throw them away. They just remind me of the price I paid for emptiness."

Car Stolen, but Worry Is About His Campaign

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. William Beckett's automobile was stolen Tuesday night but he said he is more concerned over the loss of several hundred campaign posters.

Beckett, who represents the 2nd-4th District in the State Senate, is a Republican and seeks re-election.

"I don't care too much about the car," Beckett told a reporter, "but I hope the thief will tack up my campaign posters."

Worker Sheds Pants To Save His Own Life

ROYAL, Neb. (AP)—John Gilroy's pants leg got caught in the pulley of a hoist he was operating and he quickly surmised that if he did not free himself, he would be drawn into the hoist. He got out of his difficulty by getting out of his pants which went fluttering up the hoist without him.

U. S. Evangelist Feels Religion On Downgrade in Russia Now

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

"I'd like to challenge anyone who says there's a religious revival in Russia," says Tommy Hicks, a Texas-born evangelist who recently made a 32-day preaching tour of the Soviet Union.

The Rev. Mr. Hicks, who has spent the greater part of the past five years evangelizing on foreign shores, draws a bleak picture of religion outside the large Russian cities of Leningrad and Moscow.

"Back in 1955," he says, "the newspaper Pravda announced that Christianity would be dead in Russia within 10 years. From my latest observations, I'd say they don't need that long."

How are the Soviets doing it?

"They're taking the children out of the church," says the Rev. Mr. Hicks. "They're luring them away by giving them an esteemed place in the nation.

"They have children's clubs and the members get to do things and go places that nonmembers do not get to do. If a boy or girl is a Christian he or she is ruled out of membership."

The Rev. Mr. Hicks preached at 23 services during his tour. Arrangements were made through local pastors. The evangelist says he does not know precisely how the pastors obtained permission.

"I preached as simply as I could," he says, "mostly from John 3:16 — 'For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life.'"

He preached through interpreters.

"The only time I was sure I was getting a good interpretation was when I had a Christian interpreter. Some were atheists and some just had no comprehension of Christian phrases."

WHS Band Will Play at Pumpkin Show

The Washington C. H. High School Band is getting ready for two out-of-town performances this week.

The first will be Friday night at the Homecoming football game in Wilmington and the second will be Saturday night at the Pumpkin Show in Circleville.

At Wilmington, the band will put on the same "Droodle" show it gave at the game here last Friday night.

At Circleville, the band will give a concert in the center of the city at 7 p. m. and then participate with four other bands in a parade at 8 p. m.

The Pumpkin Show concert will include some of the numbers the band has played at the football games this fall.

While the band will not attempt to put on its regular show, the seven majorettes and two majorette twirling specialists will put on the Canadian Sunset dance and the drill routine to "Colonel Boogey" and "Left, Right" rhythm by the band.

The 93-piece band, majorettes, twirlers and drum major will leave the Gardner Park field house here at 5:30 p. m. for Circleville, Bandmaster Robert Neumann said.

The band will get $75 for playing at the Pumpkin Show. Out of this, Neumann said, all expenses will be paid and added that the money left over will go into the band fund.

New Jersey's Senate Race Said Baffling

Little Interest Shown Toward Candidates; Finish May Be Close

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's U.S. Senate candidates look as though they were picked by a Hollywood casting director. But the campaign has been no hit at the box office.

The whole thing has party heads on both sides baffled. It figures to be a very close election. But no crowds, no heat and not much voter interest have shown so far.

They are battling for the seat being vacated by Sen. H. Alexander Smith, 78-year-old Republican who is retiring.

Kean's 20-year record in Congress has been the main battleground. He backs the Eisenhower foreign policy, favors economy in government and speaks often with pride about Social Security law amendments he has sponsored.

Williams, who often backed Eisenhower's foreign policy when he was in Congress from 1954 to 1957, is more critical nowadays. But he charges that there is a marked isolationist trend in Kean's record. He says much of Kean's work on the Social Security law was technical and that many times Kean voted against the basic ideas involved.

A large unspoken part of Williams' campaign is the Sherman Adams issue. Kean admits the Adams case may cost him votes, even though he was one of the first Republicans to call for Adams' resignation as President Eisenhower's top aide, after Adams was shown to have accepted favors from a friend who was in some difficulties with the government.

Both men have concentrated on personal campaigns, with little reliance on television and radio. While their schedules are basically similar, Williams relies more on rallies at union halls and fewer teas and coffee hours than Kean.

Both men travel around the state in automobile caravans led by sound trucks (Kean's unaccountably features a recording of "Happy Days Are Here Again," the New Deal theme song).

Both Kean's father and uncle were U.S. senators. His party has won every U.S. Senate election in New Jersey for the pest 23 years.

Williams won election to Congress in 1953 in a district that had not elected a Democrat in the 22 years since its creation.

He was defeated for re-election in 1956 by 4,000 votes when Eisenhower piled up an 80,000-vote plurality in the district.

Both sides make standard victory predictions, but neither is overly confident. The 1954 Senate election in New Jersey was decided by 3,000 out of 1,700,000 votes, and polls so far show Kean and Williams exactly even.

Rhodes Lists Fayette Village Income Outgo

State Auditor James A. Rhodes reports that Fayette County's four villages had receipts of $54,628.48 and expenditures of $62,859.26 in 1957, according to a tabulation of annual financial reports filed with him by village clerks.

Revenue of Fayette villages came from the following sources: Property taxes, $5,709.39; cigarette licenses, $357.26; waterworks, $17,492.37; auto licenses, $4,313.93; gasoline tax, $6,158.50; local government fund, $6,640.01; bond issues and loans, $6,000; other, $7,957.02.

Expenditures were for the following purposes:

General government, $3,434.17; police and fire protection, $4,348.02; sanitation, $972.09; streets $18,859.81; waterworks $12,944.59; bonds and notes paid, $9,510; other $12,790.58.

THE VILLAGES are Jeffersonville, Bloomingburg, Milledgeville and Octa.

Because of the growing importance of village and township governments in the local government picture in Ohio, Rhodes is planning to issue this year a report on the fiscal statistics of all villages and townships. Similar reports have been issued by the auditor's office for more than 40 years on county and city governmental operations, but there has been no over - all information on villages and townships.

Many requests for such data have persuaded Rhodes that such information will be helpful to legislators, bond houses, banks, research groups, students of government, local officials and the taxpayers in general.

Ohio Registration Is at Record High

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio voter registrations stand at a new high of 3,196,381, says Secretary of State Ted W. Brown.

Brown based his total on official reports from election boards in 23 counties requiring county-wide registration and 16 counties with partial registration. Ohio has 88 counties.

Total registration in 1956 was 3,137,821, a presidential election year. Registrations in the 1954 non-presidential year totaled 2,914,355.

Brown recently estimated that eligible voters in Ohio this year total 5,200,000. He predicted 3,450,000 will vote in the Nov. 4 election.

Sabina Patrolman Is Still Off Duty

The status of Patrolman Leonard Cox, 41, who tendered a verbal resignation to the village council Oct. 6 is still uncertain, Chief Morris said Mayor H. W. Hill told him.

Council did not act on the resignation Cox tendered during a stormy closed door meeting of the council called when two juveniles accused Cox of improper conduct before the open council meeting.

Chief Morris said the next regular meeting of the village council is 7:30 p. m. Monday. He said at this time council may act officially on Cox's statement. Mayor Hill said last week that he didn't believe anything would come of the accusations.

Chief Morris is working the night trick from 9 p. m. to 6 a. m. with the other two officers splitting the rest of the day. He was formerly on the day shift.

Permit Is Issued For $24,000 House

A permit to build a $24,000 house at the corner of Main St. and Gardner Ct. was one of only three issued by the city auditor's office last week. It was granted to Ralph and Kathryn Hickman for a private dwelling.

Carl Stratton, 532 Carolyn Rd., got a permit to build $780 garage and Robert Tevans, 816 Briar Ave., got one to put in a $200 foundation for an existing building.

Wilmington College Homecoming Set For This Weekend

WILMINGTON — The biggest weekend of the year is coming up for Wilmington College—the annual Homecoming weekend.

Parents of students and old grads will be swarming in for a full program of activitie, which will include a parade through Wilmington Saturday, a pep rally around a big bonfire on the campus Friday night, a chicken barbecue and, of course, the football game at 2:15 Saturday between the Quakers and Yellow Jackets from Defiance College.

Dr. Charles F. Kettering, widely known inventor and scientist, will be marshall of the parade at 1 p. m. Saturday.

Heading the parade with Dr. Kettering in an open convertible will be Dr. Samuel D. Marble, who will be taking part in the last homecoming as president of Wilmington College. Dr. Marble resigned recently to become president of a yet-to-be-developed college in Michigan.

They will have to share interest, however, with the homecoming queen, Miss Lois Cutlip, a junior from Piketon, and her four attendants.

Also in the parade will be the college's last four homecoming queens: Mrs. John Wilson of Wilmington (1954); Mrs. Hugh Patton of Wilmington (1955) Miss Ann Mason of Hillsboro (1956) and Mrs. Kemp Allemang of Franklin (1957) whose husband is a graduate of Washington C. H. High School.

Following the football game, there will be a reception in the Pyle Student Center and the day's festivities will come to a close with a dance for the students in Pyle Center.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Parish.

Delco Walkout Brings Closing of Frigidaire

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—The continuing strike here at Delco Products Division of General Motors may cause a shutdown of the huge Frigidaire plant. The two General Motors divisions were struck 10 days ago by the International Union of Electrical Workers. Frigidaire went back to work one day later. But a plant spokesman said the Delco strike has curtailed parts supply. Delco employs 4,000 workers and Frigidaire 11,000.

BAND DRESSES UP

The members of the band have received shoulder patches for their band jackets. The words Bloomingburg Band are added with gold thread to the white emblems, corresponding to the band's colors of black, white and gold.

The patches were ordered by Mrs. Robert Huff and paid for by the Band Boosters Club. She procured them in time for the Ohio State Fair last summer, when part of the Bloomingburg and Jeffersonville bands combined to give a short concert there Aug. 26.

For the past three summers Mrs. Walter Hurd, music instructor at Jeff, has invited BHS band members to play with the Jeffersonville band. The group plays at both the county and the state fairs every year.

Ohio Pen Guard Killed in Mishap Cleaning Shotgun

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 63-year-old Ohio Penitentiary guard was killed Wednesday when a 12-gauge shotgun fired into his abdomen after it fell from a rack in the prison arsenal.

The victim, Lt. Thomas Temple of nearby Grove City, a penitentiary guard for 30 years, was cleaning weapons when the gun discharged.

Warden Ralph W. Alvis said guns in the arsenal are always kept loaded as an emergency measure.

Alvis said Temple apparently had just cleaned the weapon and put it back in the rack. Evidentally, the shotgun, loaded with a shell in the breach, was not fastened securely to the rack and slipped out.

Westinghouse Offers New Employe Security Program

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Westinghouse Electric Corp. says that it has proposed to four unions an employe security program designed to help workers during economic emergencies, to encourage regular saving and to provide greater retirement income.

The broad program was presented to the unions last Friday in connection with negotiations limited to job security under reopening clauses in five-year national contracts expiring in 1960.

The unions are the International Union of Electrical Workers, the Federation of Westinghouse Independent Salaried Unions, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and the Independent United Electrical Workers.

None of the national unions has issued public statements on the proposal. However, Local 601 of the International Union of Electrical Workers rejected the proposal at a membership meeting Sunday.

Westinghouse said the program consists of five major elements:

1. A plan setting up individual employe security "bank accounts" in which the company pays all the savings.

2. A separate plan under which employes may save regularly a part of their pay in individual savings accounts. The company will add funds under certain conditions.

3. An imposed pension plan, with the company paying the cost of pension increases.

4. A temporary loan plan by which employes may borrow up to five per cent of their annual earnings to meet financial emergencies before their own reserves have accumulated under plans No. 1 and 2, and a permanent loan plan that eventually will replace the temporary plan.

5. Separation pay for longer-service employes in the event a plant or office is permanently closed.

County Commissioner Bond Ruling Is Given

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Atty. Gen. William Saxbe in an opinion to Lorain County prosecutor Paul J. Mikus has ruled that county commissioners may issue bonds in excess of $20,000 for the purpose of acquiring office equipment without submitting the matter to a vote of the people.

Berserk Polaris Missile Destroyed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —A temperamental Polaris experimental rocket twisted crazily over the cape and exploded Wednesday when the missile was deliberately destroyed after an abortive launching.

No one was injured, but the impact caused a raging brush fire on an isolated section of the cape. The flames were whipped by winds as high as 35 miles an hour.

It was the second time in three weeks that this type 75-foot Navy missile had exploded shortly after launching. A Polaris was blown apart high over the cape Sept. 24, raining debris back on the launching area and in the Banana River at nearby Cocoa Beach.

False Sputnik III 'Beep' Being Heard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy radio scientists said today they occasionally get signals which might seem on less sensitive receivers to be from a new and unannounced Soviet satellite. They are confident, however, that its only the Sputnik III signal on the bounce.

They said that occasionally, after the passage of Sputnik III over a given station, a seemingly altered type of signal comes in. But they said they attribute this to "ionospheric reflection" of some of the signals. That is, on occasions, signals are bounced back from the ionospheric layer rather than coming direct to earth from Sputnik 3.

After All These Years on TV Jack Benny Has No Worries

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Benny ordered some hot coffee sent up to his hotel suite the other day during a visit to New York.

"Please," he told room service, "make it so hot that you can't carry it." Hanging up the telephone, he said to a visitor, "To be honest about it, that line is stolen from George Burns."

"That reminds me of a story," said a friend of Bennys. "There was this kid three, four years old who seemed perfectly normal in every way except that he wouldn't talk. His parents were worried sick about it. They did everything possible, but the kid wouldn't say a word.

"Finally one morning when they served him his cocoa, he tasted it and yelled, 'Gee, that's too hot!' His parents burst into tears of joy, kissed him and asked, 'Why haven't you ever spoken before, dear?' The kid said, 'There hasn't been anything to complain about before.'"

Extraordinarily calm and unharassed in his twenty-sixth year of radio and television, you might say Benny has never sounded off a great deal because he doesn't feel he's had anything to complain about.

Week in and week out his Sunday CBS-TV show is the most visible half-hour comedy show on the air. He doesn't worry about "changing format" problems because the format of the show always is changing from week to week anyway.

The first 10 years are the hardest, he feels. He used to work like a dog after he began his radio program in 1932, "scared every week that they'd fire me if it wasn't the best show ever." But after nine years on television he doesn't worry any more.

Why did he start the happy myth that Benny is the most tight-fisted man in the world?

"It began as an accident on radio," he said. "I did a couple of jokes about being tight and it caught on. Apparently everybody has a skinflint in his family. I went on with it because people demanded it—I had to. It was like being carried along by an avalanche. And now it's a permanent fixture of me as an entertainer."

That waiter must have worn gloves to carry the coffee, Benny thought it barely warm enough, but his visitor scalded his tongue.

German General OKs Monty In WW2 Plan Criticism

NEW YORK (AP) — Hesitation and dispute over strategy prevented the Western Allies from ending World War II in Europe in late 1944 instead of May 1945, says Britain's Field Marshal Montgomery.

A top German general agrees that the Allies could have defeated Germany about five months sooner.

After the successful Allied assault inland from the Normandy beachhead rendered the German situation in France desperate by the middle of August, "the end of the war in Europe was most certainly 'within reach,'" Montgomery writes in his memoirs.

"But what was now needed were quick decisions and, above all, a plan. I had a plan ready . . ." he wrote.

Montgomery's views are set forth in the second installment of his memoirs, published Tuesday by Life magazine.

Montgomery says he presented a plan concentrating the West's resources into a 40-division thrust directly up the west coast of Europe toward the Ruhr and Berlin.

The Associated Press asked German Gen. Huenther Blumentritt, now 66 and living in Germany, to comment on the Montgomery plan. Blumentritt was chief of staff of the German Western armies at that time under Field Marshal von Rundstedt.

Blumentritt said: "I am absolutely convinced that the war would have been over by Christmas 1944, that there would have been a saving of Allied lives and that the Western Allies would have been in Berlin before the Russians had Montgomery's plan been carried out."

He said the Western Front was completely disorganized after the Normandy fighting and the Germans could not have mustered enough resources to meet a sustained single thrust of great strength.

Montgomery says he and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, were "poles apart" in military strategy.

The British field marshal says Gen. Omar Bradley also had a plan for a forward strike in the middle of Germany, but that Eisenhower compromised by trying to take all the objectives on a broad advance.

"The proper development of Allied strategy north of Seine will become one of the great controversies of military history," he writes. "In the end it was the Germans who benefited from the argument. Had we adopted a proper operational plan in the middle of August, and given it a sound administrative and logistic backing, we should have seized the Ruhr before the winter set in.

"This would not only have shortened the war. It would also have held out possibilities of bringing it to an end in Europe with a political balance very much more favorable to an early and stable peace than that which has actually emerged."

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said President Eisenhower will have no comment on Montgomery's views.

ROBERT GEORGE CLIFFORD

ROBERT GEORGE CLIFFORD is being sought by the FBI for unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for the crime of murder. On March 4, 1958, the bodies of Robert G. Clifford, his wife, Marie, and their 13-year-old son Ronald, were found dead from gunshot wounds in their home at Hampden, Mass.

Another son, Robert George Clifford, Jr., was missing as was the family automobile. A warrant for the arrest of Robert George Clifford, Jr., was issued on March 5, 1958, by the District Court of Springfield, County of Hampden, Commonwealth of Massachusetts, charging him with murder.

A complaint was filed before a U. S. Commissioner at Boston, Mass., on March 6, 1958, charging Clifford with fleeing the state of Mass. to avoid prosecution for the crime of murder.

Being sought for multiple murders, the fugitive has the aliases of Robert G. Clifford, Jr., and "Bobby." He has worked as laborer and well digger, is soft-spoken, quiet in manner, walks slightly stooped over, has a wide mouth, one front tooth crooked, reportedly is a good swimmer, likes to bowl, fish and attend movies. He wears size 12 shoes. He may have suicidal tendencies, may be armed and should be considered dangerous.

DESCRIPTION: Age, 17; Born, Ludlow, Mass.; Height, 5'10½"; Weight 150; Build, slender; Hair, sandy brown; Eyes, dark brown; Complexion, medium.

1908 50 YEARS OF PROGRESS 1958

After All These Years on TV Jack Benny Has No Worries

NEW YORK (AP) — Jack Benny ordered some hot coffee sent up to his hotel suite the other day during a visit to New York.

"Please," he told room service, "make it so hot that you can't carry it." Hanging up the telephone, he said to a visitor, "To be honest about it, that line is stolen from George Burns."

"That reminds me of a story," said a friend of Bennys. "There was this kid three, four years old who seemed perfectly normal in every way except that he wouldn't talk. His parents were worried sick about it. They did everything possible, but the kid wouldn't say a word.

"Finally one morning when they served him his cocoa, he tasted it and yelled, 'Gee, that's too hot!' His parents burst into tears of joy, kissed him and asked, 'Why haven't you ever spoken before, dear?' The kid said, 'There hasn't been anything to complain about before.'"

Extraordinarily calm and unharassed in his twenty-sixth year of radio and television, you might say Benny has never sounded off a great deal because he doesn't feel he's had anything to complain about.

Week in and week out his Sunday CBS-TV show is the most visible half-hour comedy show on the air. He doesn't worry about "changing format" problems because the format of the show always is changing from week to week anyway.

The first 10 years are the hardest, he feels. He used to work like a dog after he began his radio program in 1932, "scared every week that they'd fire me if it wasn't the best show ever." But after nine years on television he doesn't worry any more.

Why did he start the happy myth that Benny is the most tight-fisted man in the world?

"It began as an accident on radio," he said. "I did a couple of jokes about being tight and it caught on. Apparently everybody has a skinflint in his family. I went on with it because people demanded it—I had to. It was like being carried along by an avalanche. And now it's a permanent fixture of me as an entertainer."

The waiter brought in coffee. Benny tipped him heavily. The waiter left with a shocked expression.

That waiter must have worn gloves to carry the coffee. Benny thought it barely warm enough, but his visitor scalded his tongue.

German General OKs Monty In WW2 Plan Criticism

NEW YORK (AP) — Hesitation and dispute over strategy prevented the Western Allies from ending World War II in Europe in late 1944 instead of May 1945, says Britain's Field Marshal Montgomery.

A top German general agrees that the Allies could have defeated Germany about five months sooner.

After the successful Allied assault inland from the Normandy beachhead rendered the German situation in France desperate by the middle of August, "the end of the war in Europe was most certainly 'within reach,'" Montgomery writes in his memoirs.

"But what was now needed were quick decisions and, above all, a plan. I had a plan ready . . ." he wrote.

Montgomery says he presented a plan concentrating the West's resources into a 40-division thrust directly up the west coast of Europe toward the Ruhr and Berlin.

The Associated Press asked German Gen. Huenther Blumentritt, now 66 and living in Germany, to comment on the Montgomery plan. Blumentritt was chief of staff of the German Western armies at that time under Field Marshal von Rundstedt.

Blumentritt said: "I am absolutely convinced that the war would have been over by Christmas 1944, that there would have been a saving of Allied lives and that the Western Allies would have been in Berlin before the Russians had Montgomery's plan been carried out."

He said the Western Front was completely disorganized after the Normandy fighting and the Germans could not have mustered enough resources to meet a sustained single thrust of great strength.

Montgomery says he and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme Allied commander, were "poles apart" in military strategy.

The British field marshal says Gen. Omar Bradley also had a plan for a forward strike in the middle of Germany, but that Eisenhower compromised by trying to take all the objectives on a broad advance.

"The proper development of Allied strategy north of Seine will become one of the great controversies of military history," he writes. "In the end it was the Germans who benefited from the argument. Had we adopted a proper operational plan in the middle of August, and given it a sound administrative and logistic backing, we should have seized the Ruhr before the winter set in.

"This would not only have shortened the war. It would also have held out possibilities of bringing it to an end in Europe with a political balance very much more favorable to an early and stable peace than that which has actually emerged."

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said President Eisenhower will have no comment on Montgomery's views.

Round about Fayette County

By B. E. KELLEY

I note that Circleville now has the dial telephone for the first time. It is an independent system.

This reminds me that Washington C. H. has had the dial system since 1915, so that this community has been enjoying its advantages for 43 years while the neighboring community has used the old type phones.

M. B. Shank was manager of the Citizens Telephone Co. here when the dial system was cut over in 1915. The Bell system also was here at that time, but the number of Bell phones was in the minority.

Bell purchased the Citizens system and took it over Sept. 21, 1921. Oscar Orr was then Bell manager, and from choice he took the job of plant chief which he held until 1936.

I distinctly recall when every important place of business in the city had both telephones—and what a relief it was to the public generally when the two systems were merged.

Orr succeeded Shank in May, 1916, as manager of the Citizens Co. here, and retained that post until the Bell absorbed the Citizens Sept. 21, 1921, when he became plant manager and retained that post until May 1, 1936.

However May 1, 1936 he became supervisor of tolls of the Bell with headquarters in Columbus, and held that post 14 years, or until he retired July 22, 1950, after spending most of his life in various phases of telephone work.

RECORD NUMBER

It will not be long until the open season for pheasants arrives, and hunters will find an unusually large number of the birds in most parts of the county.

I have seen large numbers of them ever since the little fellows followed their mothers across the highway, sometimes making it necessary to slow down to keep from running over them. To me pheasants always have the right-of-way, even though they sometimes disregard all man made traffic rules.

In addition to the large hatch of pheasants within the county, several hundred young birds were released here earlier this season, and are now rapidly approaching maturinty.

The number of hen pheasants in the new crop seems to be exceptionally large, and being protected by law, the females will carry on for a new record next year if everything is favorable.

Not only is the pheasant population high in this area, where every year hunters pour in from many miles around but a record number of ringnecks were produced at Urbana and Wellington game farms.

Total, for the all-time record, was 103,694 ringneck chicks. In addition, the Wildlife Division is rearing other species of pheasants at the Waterloo Experimental Farm near Athens for release in Southwestern Ohio where the ring-neck has not survied.

Bill Hendershot, game supervisor of the department, credits sportsmen's clubs' participation in Ohio's unique 50-50 stocking project, plus more efficient game farm operations for the new pheasant record.

The 50-50 project is a cooperative program between state and sportsmen's clubs in which the Wildlife Division rears the birds until they are released at 10 to 12 weeks of age.

A new feature of the project was added this year as some sportsmen's clubs increased their facilities to handle day-old pheasants. The result streamlined game farm management and increased ringneck production by 24,000 additional birds.

HAD TRAIN TO SELF

One time when he operated a general store in Sabina, had been in Dayton, and expected to reach this city on the CH&D Railroad in time to catch the evening B&O train for home, J. W. Southard, now of Washington C. H., found upon arrival here that his train was late and he had missed the B&O.

Contacting the agent at the old B&O station, which formerly stood on the south bank of Paint Creek on the north side of Paint St., he was informed that a local freight would be leaving for Sabina soon and that he might ride in the caboose.

It was a bitter cold night, with several inches of snow on the ground, and when the local freight finally pulled into the station to take water, Southward walked well up the track toward North St., and climbed into the caboose.

The coal stove in the caboose was red hot and the place was comfortable, so he made himself at home, expecting members of the train crew to come in at any moment.

The train started moving with no one boarding the caboose, so he rode until the train stopped in Sabina, without any member of the crew appearing. He climbed down from the caboose and walked home, never having seen a crew member. Apparently they were totally unaware that they had a passenger aboard.

New Anti-Sub Weapon Bared

OSLO, Norway (AP) — Norway has unveiled a new, compact anti-submarine weapon system small enough to be installed in ships down to 500 tons.

The system was developed by the Norwegian Defense Research It is called "Terne"—tern.

The Defense Department said 20 scientists and 20 technicians and mechanics had worked on the problem of developing a weapon capable of destroying fast modern submarines.

The department said U.S. military authorities had offered assistance under the mutual weapons development program and that the navies of the United States and other NATO countries have shown great interest in Terne.

The frigate in which Terne is mounted has been at Key West, Fla., for extensive trials which could not be made in Norway.

Terne, described as largely automatic, was said to work this way:

A search sonar, which detects submarines by sound waves, takes over as the ship approaches the target. It determines the range, depth, and direction of the enemy sub.

This information is fed into a predictor which automatically calculates the firing angles and aims a rocket launcher containing six rocket-propelled depth charges.

The rockets can be fired in any direction. The rocket launcher is unmanned, and loading is automatic. The rockets are equipped with proximity and time fuses.

The Defense Department said the Terne system will be produced in Norway and made available to all NATO countries.

Forest Shade Grange Inducts New Members

Three new members were inducted and two former members were reinstated at the Forest Shade Grange meeting 8 p. m. Tuesday in Grange Hall.

Applications were received for the reinstatement of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Durflinger of New Holland, and obligations were given by Robert Creamer, master, and Nathaniel Tway to new members, Miss Barbara Creamer, and Rodger and Miss Lana Louise Durflinger.

Mrs. Eldon Bethards was chosen to be the Pomona Grange delegate to the Grange meeting in Cols. on Nov. 3-4. Mrs. Bethards recently returned from a Civil Defense meeting in Chillicothe, where she was a Grange representative.

During the business session, it was decided to contribute to the Community Chest and Oct. 27 was set for the Fayette County Grange installation of officers. Plans to have the election customary dinner on Nov. 4 were made.

The social program included a reading, "Buttermilk", by Mrs. Bethards, and Mrs. Nathaniel Tway showed films of Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and eastern United States and a movie taken during the 1954 building of the Grange Hall in New Martinsburg.

Refreshments were served by the committee headed by Mr. and Mrs. Willard Williamson.

Ohio Valley Seen as Potent Force Against Soviet Bloc

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio Valley was described today as a potent and effective force in the nation's efforts to counteract the Soviet Block's campaign to widen its economic foothold in this hemisphere.

Brig. Gen. W. W. Lapsley, division engineer of the U. S. Army Engineer Ohio River Division, gave it that label in a speech prepared for the 63rd annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement Assn.

He said the valley's force against Russia is especially effective among Latin American countries.

"Ohio Valley industries already draw heavily upon imports from Latin America and elsewhere," Gen. Lapsley said. "Right here in Cincinnati we received barge loads of crude asphalt for processing into driveways and highways.

"Barge loads of alumina, de-ed from Caribbean bauxite, have been a recent addition . . . to the list of river cargoes. South American oil is no stranger to the Ohio. Both iron and manganese ores from Turkey, Africa and South America go into our steel production.

"Cincinnati is within 3,000 water miles from a vast area of South and Central America. Millions of people in that part of the world form a major market for goods such as are produced in this valley. Russia and her satellites are well aware of this market. They are making considerable effort to gain, and improve, an economic foothold in this area."

The general said the Ohio Valley is doing all right in certain part of Latin America, especially in Venezuela.

Pittsburgh mills send barge loads of steel pipe and steel rails for South America oil fields and railroads by way of the Ohio River, Gen. Lapsley said.

"Ohio Valley gasoline and petroleum products follow an all-water route abroad," he continued. "And this valley's great industrial complex produces many themselves admirably to barge more export items which lend themselves admirably to barge transport. Barge construction is already refined to a point where the most delicate and volatile of gases and liquids can be carried.

"All this suggests that in the future an ever-growing number of commodities will be carried on our inland waterways. Improved navigation conditions, once our new dams are completed, cannot help but speed this process.

Gen. Lapsley, discussing the question of progress in the program of modernizing Ohio River navigation, said:

"Percentage-wise, in number of starts, we are a bit more than 25 per cent along on our replacement and modernization program. Three locks—New Cumberland, Greenup and Markland—are nearing completion. Coffer-damming for locks at New Richmond is under way, and we have started construction for Lock 41 at Louisville. Thus, five projects are under way, out of 19 in the overall program. These five projects, when completed by 1963, will provide navigation improvement for about 350 miles of the river, or 35 per cent of the 981-mile main stream.

"Pike Island, which will be started this year, will bring the total to almost 400 miles when it is completed in 1964," he said.

College Enrollment Totals Increase for Sixth Year

CINCINNATI (AP)—College enrollment has increased this fall for the sixth consecutive year, it was reported today by Dr. Raymond Walters, president emeritus of the University of Cincinnati.

Dr. Walters, who annually makes a survey of enrollment trends at more than 600 colleges, said early estimates show approximately 1,800,000 full time students in the nation's colleges this year.

Dr. Walters' survey is made for School and Society, an educational journal.

"Early estimates show an all-time record throng of full-time students are crossing the collegiate campus these bright October days," Dr. Walters said.

"In urban institutions, a still undetermined number of adults are using these facilities in evening classes.

"Grand totals of full-time and part-time students in approved universities and four-year colleges will probably exceed 2.5 million, with an additional number in junior colleges and institutes."

"It is a fascinating and significant picture," Dr. Walters continued, "showing the American people are 'sold' on higher education."

Analyzing returns on estimated enrollments, Dr. Walters made these points:

1. As to full-time attendance, 91 per cent of these approved universities and colleges have more students or as many this autumn compared with October 1957, with 71 per cent having more.

2. As to freshman attendance, 87 per cent have more or as many first-year students as compared with October 1957, with 66 per cent having more.

3. A considerable number of "no change" reports came from private universities which are restricting admissions because of limited physical facilities and faculty personnel.

A similar stabilization of enrollments appears in returns from schools and technological institutes, he said.

In certain sections of the country some colleges of arts and some independent engineering sciences report lower attendances for which no common reason has been assigned.

Another phase of the analysis said that in view of the great demand for school teachers "it is logical that 95 per cent of the reports from independent teachers colleges show more students than a year ago."

Now It's Cat Week Coming Up Nov. 2; So Be Good to 'em

Think of it! Historically, we burned witches (and their cats) at the stake, a scant 300 years ago.

Yet, 300 years ago there was never a "Cat Week—International," which will be observed Nov. 2-8 after Halloween with its traditional witches and cats.

"Cat Week — International" is sponsored by the American Feline Society, Inc. the world's largest cat organization and the second-largest animal welfare group.

Although the society lacks a Chamber of Commerce in the cat field, it performs many kindered services. Some 40 per cent of the its efforts concern fancy cats. Moreover, it has moved the cat from 12th, to second position as a pet.

"Due to their quiet and gentle nature, their cleanliness and ease of maintenance, cats make ideal pets," states the American Feline Society, Inc., who encourage everyone to observe "Cat Week — International," Nov. 2-8.

Committees Named For Belle Aire PTA

The month - old Belle Aire School Parent - Teacher Assn. today is starting out its first year with comprehensive and ambitious program, which was given general approval at the unit's first meeting Tuesday night.

To carry out that program, which is still in a somewhat nebulous state, nine standing committees were named; others probably will be set up for specific projects as the occasions warrant.

The first nine committees are:

Youth Club Activities

JUNIOR SHEPHERDS

Phil Grover, County extension agent, conducted the first meeting of the Junior Shepherds Club, at the Farm Bureau auditorium at which the caring of lambs and sheep was discussed.

The thirteen members present elected officers for the coming year, who are Jamse Klever, president; Sullen Graumlich, vice president; Mike Beatty, secretary; and Linda Yeoman, reporter.

Each meeting date was set for the second Monday of every month, Nov. 10 is scheduled for next month's meeting to be held in the Farm Bureau.

Linda Yeoman, Reporter

Assistant leader, Mrs. J. O. Garringer, provided the games.

Those attending were: Linda Parish, Vicki Wilson, Diane Fenton, Gil Garrett, Cynthia Waller, Linda Tatman, Nellie Maude Case, Dolly Fisher, Sandy Douds, Mrs. Robert Parish, leader, and Mrs. J. O. Garringer, assistant leadre.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Ohio Valley was described today as a potent and effective force in the nation's efforts to counteract the Soviet Block's campaign to widen its economic foothold in this hemisphere.

Brig. Gen. W. W. Lapsley, division engineer of the U. S. Army Engineer Ohio River Division, gave it that label in a speech prepared for the 63rd annual meeting of the Ohio Valley Improvement Assn.

He said the valley's force against Russia is especially effective among Latin American countries.

"Ohio Valley industries already draw heavily upon imports from Latin America and elsewhere," Gen. Lapsley said. "Right here in Cincinnati we received barge loads of crude asphalt for processing into driveways and highways.

"Barge loads of alumina, de-ed from Caribbean bauxite, ave been a recent addition . . . to the list of river cargoes. South American oil is no stranger to the Ohio. Both iron and manganese ores from Turkey, Africa and South America go into our steel production.

"Cincinnati is within 3,000 water miles from a vast area of South and Central America. Millions of people in that part of the world form a major market for goods such as are produced in this valley. Russia and her satellites are well aware of this market. They are making considerable effort to gain, and improve, an economic foothold in this area."

The general said the Ohio Valley is doing all right in certain part of Latin America, especially in Venezuela.

Pittsburgh mills send barge loads of steel pipe and steel rails for South America oil fields and railroads by way of the Ohio River, Gen. Lapsley said.

"Ohio Valley gasoline and petroleum products follow an all-water route abroad," he continued. "And this valley's great industrial complex produces many themselves admirably to barge m o r e export items w h i c h lend themselves admirably to barge transport. Barge construction is already refined to a point where the most delicate and volatile of gases and liquids can be carried.

"All this suggests that in the future an ever-growing number of commodities will be carried on our inland waterways. Improved navigation conditions, once our new dams are completed, cannot help but speed this process.

Gen. Lapsley, discussing the question of progress in the program of modernizing Ohio River navigation, said:

"Percentage-wise, in number of starts, we are a bit more than 25 per cent along on our replacement and modernization program. Three locks—New Cumberland, Greenup and Markland—are nearing completion. Coffer-damming for locks at New Richmond is under way, and we have started construction for Lock 41 at Louisville. Thus, five projects are under way, out of 19 in the overall program. These five projects, when completed by 1963, will provide navigation improvement for about 350 miles of the river, or 35 per cent of the 981-mile main stream.

"Pike Island, which will be started this year, will bring the total to almost 400 miles when it is completed in 1964," he said.

College Enrollment Totals Increase for Sixth Year

CINCINNATI (AP)—College enrollment has increased this fall for the sixth consecutive year, it was reported today by Dr. Raymond Walters, president emeritus of the University of Cincinnati.

Dr. Walters, who annually makes a survey of enrollment trends at more than 600 colleges, said early estimates show approximately 1,800,000 full time students in the nation's colleges this year.

Dr. Walters' survey is made for School and Society, an educational journal.

"Early estimates show an all-time record throng of full-time students are crossing the collegiate campus these bright October days," Dr. Walters said.

"In urban institutions, a still undetermined number of adults are using these facilities in evening classes.

"Grand totals of full-time and part-time students in approved universities and four-year colleges will probably exceed 2.5 million, with an additional number in junior colleges and institutes."

"It is a fascinating and significant picture," Dr. Walters continued, "showing the American people are 'sold' on higher education."

1. As to full-time attendance, 91 per cent of these approved universities and colleges have more students or as many this autumn compared with October 1957, with 71 per cent having more.

2. As to freshman attendance, 87 per cent have more or as many first-year students as compared with October 1957, with 66 per cent having more.

3. A considerable number of "no change" reports came from private universities which are restricting admissions because of limited physical facilities and faculty personnel.

A similar stabilization of enrollments appears in returns from schools and technological institutes, he said.

In certain sections of the country some colleges of arts and s o m e independent engineering sciences report lower attendances for which no common reason has been assigned.

Another phase of the analysis said that in view of the great demand for school teachers "it is logical that 95 per cent of the reports from independent teachers colleges show more students than a year ago."

Now It's Cat Week Coming Up Nov. 2; So Be Good to 'em

Think of it! Historically, we burned witches (and their cats) at the stake, a scant 300 years ago.

Yet, 300 years ago there was n e v e r a "Cat Week—International," which will be observed Nov. 2-8 after Halloween with its traditional witches and cats.

"Cat W e e k — International" is sponsored by the American Feline Society, Inc. the world's largest cat organization and the second-largest animal welfare group.

Although the society l a c k s a Chamber of Commerce in the cat field, it performs many kindered services. Some 40 per cent of the its efforts concern fancy cats. Moreover, it has moved the cat from 12th, to second position as a pet.

"Due to their quiet and gentle nature, their cleanliness and ease of maintenance, cats make ideal pets," states the American Feline Society, Inc., who encourage everyone to observe "Cat Week — International," Nov. 2-8.

Committees Named For Belle Aire PTA

The month - old Belle A i r e School Parent - Teacher Assn. today is starting out its first year with comprehensive and ambitious program, which was given general approval at the unit's first meeting Tuesday night.

Woody's Knuckles Rapped by Big 10

Wilson rebuked Hayes for saying earlier this week that collegiate defenses "are getting away with a lot of dirty football" while game officials are "officiating the offense right out of existence."

Wilson said in a statement:

"I can assume that he (Hayes) has generalized because I saw his Illinois game of last Saturday and I observed nothing in that game which I could say supported his allegations.

"He has done a disservice to college football by his broad charges which leave the public with an impression that college football is dirty, for this is not a fact."

In Columbus, Hayes shot back: "Let them prove me wrong. If they want me to turn my films over to an unprejudiced body I'll be glad to dot it."

He referred to movies of nearly 20 games played this season. Hayse said he had analyzed them and concluded the defense is getting away with dirty tactics.

Wilson also said Hayes "knows full well there are better channels than public discussion for disposing of any questions he may wish to raise regarding officiating or player conduct (and) he also knows full well that we do not condone dirty play as having a place in college . . . We do not permit our officials to tolerate it."

Hayes had made his remarks at a Columbus press luncheon.

Wilson said he had postponed commenting until Hayes put his charges in writing. But Wilson added he never received a letter and "I therefore have to go on what he said to the press."

Hayes countered: "I said I had communicated with him (Wilson) and I did. I talked with him by phone last Saturday night."

Eliot, whose Illini were defeated 19-13 by the defending champion Buckeyes in Champaign, Ill., Saturday, was incensed by a published report that Hayes complained too much piling on was permitted in the game.

"I'm surprised and shocked to read of the insinuation that Illinois plays anything but a clean and fine game," he said. "Anyone who has the audacity or temerity to infer that Illinois players played anything but clean football throughout the game must be a man who is out of his mind or likes to hear himself talk.

"There are enough people already running down college football. Hayes' statements left a bad taste in the mouths of Illinois players and coaches. The last thing we want is a smear campaign. We get sick and tired of hearing the same old rantings and ravings of Woody Hayes."

Briton Pegged Patterson Foe

Manager Says 3 Yanks Overrated for Bout

Here is the way D'Amato sizes it up:

1. England's Henry Cooper and Sweden's undefeated Ingemar Johansson are worthy challengers.

2. Eddie Machen (knocked out in the first round by Johansson), Zora Folley (outpointed by Cooper) and Willie Pastrano (stopped on cuts by England's Brian London) were overrated when they were ranked 1-2-3 among the contenders. (Machen, Folley and Pastrano are Americans.)

3. But since everyone had ranked them 1-2-3 before, then these same people must concede the worthiness of Cooper and Johansson.

4. He will consider a title fight in London next spring or summer with Cooper but he also intends to go through with a commitment for a summer title defense in Colorado Springs, Colo. He had promised London promoter Harry Levene that if Levene had a worthy opponent he would go to London and fight for him.

5. Patterson will not fight for anyone remotely connected with the International Boxing Club. And that's why he won't accept a big horne television offer for a Dec. 5 fight in Madison Square Gardne.

Ned Irish, exceutive vice president of the Garden, said Wednesday that D'Amato had rejected a $300,000 bid from the National Broadcasting Co. on behalf of Gillette, sponsors of the IBC's Friday night fights, for a Dec. 5 fight in the Garden. The unnamed opponent was expected to be Cuba's Nino Valdes. Irish said D'Amato also had turned down five other dates in the arena.

D'Amato charged that the IBC stifles competition by running both the Wednesday and Friday night television boxing shows. He has been shouting that ever since he split with the IBC nearly two years ago.

Army Halfback Sets Score Pace

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Dawkins, one-half of Army's fearsome backfield duo, is showing the way in major college individual football scoring with 42 points.

The 197-pound halfback from Royal Oak, Mich., who with Bob Anderson gives Army its best one-two punch since Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, crossed the goal line seven times in pacing the Cadets to three straight victories.

Lion Practice Is Speeded Up

Next Game Friday Is At Wilmington

If hard work pays off the WHS Lions will win their fifth straight game when they meet the Hurricane at Wilmington Friday night.

Coach Fred Domenico said the practice sessions this week had been going at a fast clip and that the boys have been doing their assigned work in less time than was needed before. Part of the reason for this is the first game of a-back-breaking scheduling of four league games in a row the Lions will embark on Friday night.

This concentrated effort will be needed if the Lions are to win Friday's game, Domenico said. The coach, who always predicts close scores, said the Hurricane will be "up" for Friday's contest.

The Wilmington boys would like nothing better than to knock off the high scoring Lions; besides, this will be the Wilmington Homecoming game.

The Hurricane has lost its first three league games and is definitely out of the SCO race.

Domenico said the Hurricanes may also try some offensive plays it has not used before. If the Hurricane switches to a spread formation it will find the Lion defense tough to penetrate. The Lions have held several plays run from spread formations earlier this season to short gains.

The Lions have been taking vitamin pills this week after practice, and were given flue shots last weekend. To prevent colds, the squad members have been wearing toboggans for the past two weeks.

Clemson Quarter Awarded Honor

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For his brilliant field generalship, running and passing in guiding Clemson to two touchdowns in the last quarter and victory over Vanderbilt, Harvey White was voted the Back of the Week today.

The 6-2, 200-pound junior quarterback from Greenwood, S. C. won the weekly Associated Press laurels over such outstanding backs as Pete Dawkins of Army, Charlie Milstead of Texas Aggies, Bob Brumble of Tulsa, Bobby Lackey of Texas, Joe Tranchini of Navy and Wray Carlton of Duke.

Clemson defeated Vanderbilt 12-7 for the undefeated Tigers fourth come-from-behind victory.

2 Yanks, Jap Tied In Golf Tournament

IRUMAGAWA, Japan (AP) — American golfer Jack Burke Jr. and Japan's Torakichi Nakamura each shot a one-under-par 71 today to tie with Ken Venturi of the U. S. in the Japan Open championship. Venturi shot a par 72.

Today's second round made it a three-way tie for first place. Burke, Nakamura and Venturi finished the 36 holes with 144 each.

Cardinals Buy PCL Strikeout Master

Purchase of the Negro from Sacramento was announced Wednesday. The price was not disclosed. Bridges, one-time first baseman who turned to pitching in 1955, won 16 and lost 11 with Sacramento this year.

Stengel Gets New Contract, Predicts Another Pennant

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, fortified with a new two-year, $80,000 contract, predicts his New York Yankees will make it five American League pennants in a row next year.

"If I didn't think we'd win again," he told a mammoth press conference, "I wouldn't have signed this piece of paper."

The 68-year-old pilot, still flush with what he called his greatest World Series triumph, said he would seek to strengthen the club for next year by trades.

"We could use another pitcher, another outfielder and a right-handed pinch hitter. I'd say that this past year I was weaker than I've ever been during my 10 years here in the right-handed pinch-hitting department."

Stengel didn't identify any of the players he would seek but he hinted strongly he'd like to get either Pedro Ramos or Camilo Pascual, Washington's top two pitchers, and Roy Sievers, the Senators' slugging left fielder.

"I read the other day where they (Washington) said we'd have to give up four or five players if we wanted to do business with them. Then they said that three of their players (presumably Ramos, Pascual and Sievers) were not for trade. Well, who else do they have besides those three?"

Stengel said he had a surplus of infielders who were expendable but did not say which ones would be offered in trade. He has three third basemen in Andy Carey, Jerry Lumpe and Bobby Richardson. Carey appears the most expendable.

Stengel indicated that Elston Howard, who led the club in batting this year, would replace the aging Yogi Berra as the team's No. 1 catcher.

"Howard proved to me he's the best catcher in baseball," Stengel said. "He's amazing. If Berra wants to play more games, I'll use him as my four-way man. He can play first base, in the outfield. He can pinch hit and he can catch.

Brown's Win Secret: Just Outscore 'em

The result: The Browns usually win.

Last season, with a shaky offense, Coach Brown stopped the opposition cold with a strong defense. In 1957's first three games, all of which the Browns won, the opponents could score only 22 points.

This year the Cleveland defense has not been too successful, allowing the opposition to score 67 points in three games. But the Browns won all three by collecting 110 points.

"Our defensive team is essentially the same. I don't know why there should be a change.

"It will be interesting to see how the defense performs this week. Naturally I'm not happy about the points that have been scored against us."

The Pittsburgh Steelers, downed 45-12 by Cleveland two weeks ago, challenge the Browns Sunday at Municipal Stadium.

Returning to action after sitting out last week's clash with the Chicago Cardinals because of injuries are halfback Leroy Bolden and end Pete Brewster. Both were injured against the Steelers.

Is Forward Pass Popularity Increasing on College Grid?

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The forward pass making a comeback? To look around some of the nation's college football practice fields you would think so.

With all the talk of wide-open, spread offensive formations, lonesome halfbacks, ends and hotdog salesmen and slot, split, tight and upside down T formations, the forward pass has taken a back seat.

All of this has lessened the scoring a bit too much for some coaches, and they are returning to a better balance of attack after last weekend's games.

Army, the nation's No. 1 team and leader in the new offensive fashions with its bazooka and "lonesome end" realizes that it does not have an infallible war on. Notre Dame did not allow it to run rampant, though losing 14-2.

Coach Earl Blaik won his game with a cute passing attack that gave balance when the Irish least expected it. He now faces Virginia and is letting his receivers have a week of intensive instruction to improve on the 100 yards on 7 of 16 passes against Notre Dame.

The Irish, on the other hand, had a miserable 11 yards passing yardage on 4 of 9 completions. Coach Terry Brennan, facing his fourth different offense against Duke, is spending most of the time coordinating and perfecting the passing game. His running attack is proven with fullback Nick Pietrosante leading the charge for 203 yards against Army's stout defense.

Tulane plays Navy in the Oyster Bowl this weekend and must face the Middies' Joe Tranchini. His pinpoint tosses beat Boston University and Michigan on successive weekends.

Green Wave Coach Andy Pilney is prepping his boys for the same kind of attack after getting 120 yards on 13 of 18 tosses against Mississippi last weekend. Tulane lost 19-8 with its ground attack netting a meagre 28 yards. Navy promises the same kind of ground defense.

Woody Hayes of Ohio State still isn't satisfied with his ground offense being able to carry the load. He has quarterback Frank Kremblas and Co. working to perfect an aerial game that got 44 yards beating Illinois 19-13.

Wisconsin, the Big 10's dark horse, didn't gain a yard against Purdue by its passing, and must face tough Iowa this weekend. Coach Milt Bruhn, unhappy with the passing situation not being able to balance a 211-yard rushing yardage count, has the boys working on the pass patterns.

Jim Tatum meets his old Maryland assistant Tommy Mont and the Terps, but has an offense that scored only two touchdowns in winning the past two games. Big Jim is looking for his passers to bone up the scores and make the difference against Maryland. They hit 6 of 16 for 83 yards in beating South Carolina last week.

Kansas takes on defrocked Oklahoma and is also looking to the air to hand the Sooners their second loss in as many weeks. The Jayhawks ground out 228 yards beating Iowa State 7-0 last week, but only 19 in the air. Oklahoma fell before Texas' passing game 15-14.

Dupas Scores Decision over Gil Turner

MONTREAL (AP) — Ralph Dupas of New Orleans had too many legs and arms for Gil Turner of Philadelphia Wednesday night. The young Cajun boxer, on the move from start to finish, shot a steady stream of hooks and jabs to win a unanimous decision.

The 10-round welterweight bout, telecast nationally in the United States, attracted only about 1,800 in Montreal Forum. Dupas gave away 7½ pounds, weighing 144½ to Turner's 152.

Dupas' shiftiness and speed confused the slower moving Philadelphian, whose attack was limited almost solely to swinging body blows that didn't appear to bother Dupas.

Dupas was such a shadow-like moving target that Turner never figured him out, let alone getting him stationary long enough to do much damage.

Dupas' snapping left the sharp right hooks seemed to come from all directions on Turner, who was in trouble in the sixth and eighth rounds and appeared bewildered and uncertain. Dupas tried to set up his opponent for a knockout in the sixth but lacked the power to end the fight.

Dupas went into the fight the favorite although currently ranked No. 6, against No. 3 for Turner, in the National Boxing Assn. welterweight rankings. Dupas was 23 years old Monday. Turner is 27.

High Court Gets Dodger Squabble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — That hassle over giving the Los Angeles Dodgers a baseball park site in Chavez Ravine is going to be heard by the California Supreme Court.

The high court Wednesday announced it would hear arguments on the case in Sacramento Nov. 6.

The court issued a writ of prohibition halting proceedings in Los Angeles Superior Court where Judge Arnold Prager ruled July 14 a contract under which Los Angeles would donate the land to the Dodgers was invalid.

Surgery Successful On Herrnstein's Knee

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—An operation Wednesday to repair torn tendons in the left knee of Michigan football fullback John Herrnstein was pronounced successful by doctors at the University Medical Center. Herrnstein, 20, of Chillicothe, Ohio, will be out for the remainder of the football season but will be able to resume his baseball career next spring, doctors said. He is a pitcher and outfielder.

The first dome car was placed in service on the Burlington railroad between Chicago and Minneapolis, on July 23, 1945.

Woody's Knuckles Rapped by Big 10

Wilson rebuked Hayes for saying earlier this week that collegiate defenses 'are getting away with a lot of dirty football" while game officials are "officiating the offense right out of existence."

Wilson said in a statement:

"I can assume that he (Hayes) has generalized because I saw his Illinois game of last Saturday and I observed nothing in that game which I could say supported his allegations.

"He has done a disservice to college football by his broad charges which leave the public with an impression that college football is dirty, for this is not a fact."

In Columbus, Hayes shot back: "Let them prove me wrong. If they want me to turn my films over to an unprejudiced body I'll be glad to dot it."

He referred to movies of nearly 20 games played this season. Hayse said he had analyzed them and concluded the defense is getting away with dirty tactics.

Wilson also said Hayes "knows full well there are better channels than public discussion for disposing of any questions he may wish to raise regarding officiating or player conduct (and) he also knows full well that we do not condone dirty play as having a place in college . . . We do not permit our officials to tolerate it."

Hayes had made his remarks at a Columbus press luncheon.

Wilson said he had postponed commenting until Hayes put his charges in writing. But Wilson added he never received a letter and "I therefore have to go on what he said to the press."

Hayes countered: "I said I had communicated with him (Wilson) and I did. I talked with him by phone last Saturday night."

Eliot, whose Illini were defeated 19-13 by the defending champion Buckeyes in Champaign, Ill., Saturday, was incensed by a published report that Hayes complained too much piling on was permitted in the game.

"I'm surprised and shocked to read of the insinuation that Illinois plays anything but a clean and fine game," he said. "Anyone who has the audacity or temerity to infer that Illinois players played anything but clean football throughout the game must be a man who is out of his mind or likes to hear himself talk.

"There are enough people already running down college football. Hayes' statements left a bad taste in the mouths of Illinois players and coaches. The last thing we want is a smear campaign. We get sick and tired of hearing the same old rantings and ravings of Woody Hayes."

Briton Pegged Patterson Foe

Manager Says 3 Yanks Overrated for Bout

Here is the way D'Amato sizes it up:

1. England's Henry Cooper and Sweden's undefeated Ingemar Johansson are worthy challengers.

2. Eddie Machen (knocked out in the first round by Johansson), Zora Folley (outpointed by Cooper) and Willie Pastrano (stopped on cuts by England's Brian London) were overrated when they were ranked 1-2-3 among the contenders. (Machen, Folley and Pastrano are Americans.)

3. But since everyone had ranked them 1-2-3 before, then these same people must concede the worthiness of Cooper and Johansson.

4. He will consider a title fight in London next spring or summer with Cooper but he also intends to go through with a commitment for a summer title defense in Colorado Springs, Colo. He had promised London promoter Harry Levene that if Levene had a worthy opponent he would go to London and fight for him.

5. Patterson will not fight for anyone remotely connected with the International Boxing Club. And that's why he won't accept a big home television offer for a Dec. 5 fight in Madison Square Gardne.

Ned Irish, exceutive vice president of the Garden, said Wednesday that D'Amato had rejected a $300,000 bid from the National Broadcasting Co. on behalf of Gillette, sponsors of the IBC's Friday night fights, for a Dec. 5 fight in the Garden. The unnamed opponent was expected to be Cuba's Nino Valdes. Irish said D'Amato also had turned down five other dates in the arena.

D'Amato charged that the IBC stifles competition by running both the Wednesday and Friday night television boxing shows. He has been shouting that ever since he split with the IBC nearly two years ago.

Army Halfback Sets Score Pace

The 197-pound halfback from Royal Oak, Mich., who with Bob Anderson gives Army its best one-two punch since Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, crossed the goal line seven times in pacing the Cadets to three straight victories.

Clemson Quarter Awarded Honor

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

For his brilliant field generalship, running and passing in guiding Clemson to two touchdowns in the last quarter and victory over Vanderbilt, Harvey White was voted the Back of the Week today.

The 6-2, 200-pound junior quarterback from Greenwood, S. C. won the weekly Associated Press laurels over such outstanding backs as Pete Dawkins of Army, Charlie Milstead of Texas Aggies, Bob Brumble of Tulsa, Bobby Lackey of Texas, Joe Tranchini of Navy and Wray Carlton of Duke.

Clemson defeated Vanderbilt 12-7 for the undefeated Tigers fourth come-from-behind victory.

Lion Practice Is Speeded Up

Next Game Friday Is At Wilmington

If hard work pays off the WHS Lions will win their fifth straight game when they meet the Hurricane at Wilmington Friday night.

Coach Fred Domenico said the practice sessions this week had been going at a fast clip and that the boys have been doing their assigned work in less time than was needed before. Part of the reason for this is the first game of a-back-breaking scheduling of four league games in a row the Lions will embark on Friday night.

This concentrated effort will be needed if the Lions are to win Friday's game, Domenico said. The coach, who aiways predicts close scores, said the Hurricane will be "up" for Friday's contest.

The Wilmington boys would like nothing better than to knock off the high scoring Lions; besides, this will be the Wilmington Homecoming game.

The Hurricane has lost its first three league games and is definitely out of the SCO race.

Domenico said the Hurricanes may also try some offensive plays it has not used before. If the Hurricane switches to a spread formation it will find the Lion defense tough to penetrate. The Lions have held several plays run from spread formations earlier this season to short gains.

The Lions have been taking vitamin pills this week after practice, and were given flue shots last weekend. To prevent colds, the squad members have been wearing toboggans for the past two weeks.

2 Yanks, Jap Tied In Golf Tournament

IRUMAGAWA, Japan (AP) — American golfer Jack Burke Jr. and Japan's Torakichi Nakamura each shot a one-under-par 71 today to tie with Ken Venturi of the U. S. in the Japan Open championship. Venturi shot a par 72.

Today's second round made it a three-way tie for first place. Burke, Nakamura and Venturi finished the 36 holes with 144 each.

Cardinals Buy PCL Strikeout Master

Purchase of the Negro from Sacramento was announced Wednesday. The price was not disclosed. Bridges, one-time first baseman who turned to pitching in 1955, won 16 and lost 11 with Sacramento this year.

There are approximately 1,400 railroad tunnels in the United States with an aggregate length of about 300 miles.

Stengel Gets New Contract, Predicts Another Pennant

NEW YORK (AP)—Casey Stengel, fortified with a new two-year, $80,000 contract, predicts his New York Yankees will make it five American League pennants in a row next year.

"If I didn't think we'd win again," he told a mammoth press conference, "I wouldn't have signed this piece of paper."

The 68-year-old pilot, still flush with what he called his greatest World Series triumph, said he would seek to strengthen the club for next year by trades.

"We could use another pitcher, another outfielder and a right-handed pinch hitter. I'd say that this past year I was weaker than I've ever been during my 10 years here in the right-handed pinch-hitting department."

Stengel didn't identify any of the players he would seek but he hinted strongly he'd like to get either Pedro Ramos or Camilo Pascual, Washington's top two pitchers, and Roy Sievers, the Senators' slugging left fielder.

"I read the other day where they (Washington) said we'd have to give up four or five players if we wanted to do business with them. Then they said that three of their players (presumably Ramos, Pascual and Sievers) were not for trade. Well, who else do they have besides those three?"

Stengel said he had a surplus of infielders who were expendable but did not say which ones would be offered in trade. He has three third basemen in Andy Carey, Jerry Lumpe and Bobby Richardson. Carey appears the most expendable.

Norm Siebern, who was benched after his unfortunate fielding misplays in left field in the fourth game of the World Series, will not be traded, according to Stengel.

"I haven't given up on the left fielder," is the way he put it. "No amount of money can have him."

Stengel indicated that Elston Howard, who led the club in batting this year, would replace the aging Yogi Berra as the team's No. 1 catcher.

"Howard proved to me he's the best catcher in baseball," Stengel said. "He's amazing. If Berra wants to play more games, I'll use him as my four-way man. He can play first base, in the outfield. He can pinch hit and he can catch.

Is Forward Pass Popularity Increasing on College Grid?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The forward pass making a comeback? To look around some of the nation's college football practice fields you would think so.

With all the talk of wide-open, spread offensive formations, lonesome halfbacks, ends and hotdog salesmen and slot, split, tight and upside down T formations, the forward pass has taken a back seat.

All of this has lessened the scoring a bit too much for some coaches, and they are returning to a better balance of attack after last weekend's games.

Army, the nation's No. 1 team and leader in the new offensive fashions with its bazooka and "lonesome end" realizes that it does not have an infallible war on. Notre Dame did not allow it to run rampant, though losing 14-2.

Coach Earl Blaik won his game with a cute passing attack that gave balance when the Irish least expected it. He now faces Virginia and is letting his receivers have a week of intensive instruction to improve on the 100 yards on 7 of 16 passes against Notre Dame.

The Irish, on the other hand, had a miserable 11 yards passing yardage on 4 of 9 completions. Coach Terry Brennan, facing his fourth different offense against Duke, is spending most of the time coordinating and perfecting the passing game. His running attack is proven with fullback Nick Pietrosante leading the charge for 203 yards against Army's stout defense.

Tulane plays Navy in the Oyster Bowl this weekend and must face the Middies' Joe Tranchini. His pinpoint tosses beat Boston University and Michigan on successive weekends.

Green Wave Coach Andy Pilney is prepping his boys for the same kind of attack after getting 120 yards on 13 of 18 tosses against Mississippi last weekend. Tulane lost 19-8 with its ground attack netting a meagre 28 yards. Navy promises the same kind of ground defense.

Woody Hayes of Ohio State still isn't satisfied with his ground offense being able to carry the load. He has quarterback Frank Kremblas and Co. working to perfect an aerial game that got 44 yards beating Illinois 19-13.

Wisconsin, the Big 10's dark horse, didn't gain a yard against Purdue by its passing, and must face tough Iowa this weekend. Coach Milt Bruhn, unhappy with the passing situation not being able to balance a 211-yard rushing yardage count, has the boys working on the pass patterns.

Jim Tatum meets his old Maryland assistant Tommy Mont and the Terps, but has an offense that scored only two touchdowns in winning the past two games. Big Jim is looking for his passers to bone up the scores and make the difference against Maryland. They hit 6 of 16 for 83 yards in beating South Carolina last week.

Kansas takes on defrocked Oklahoma and is also looking to the air to hand the Sooners their second loss in as many weeks. The Jayhawks ground out 228 yards beating Iowa State 7-0 last week, but only 19 in the air. Oklahoma fell before Texas' passing game 15-14.

Dupas Scores Decision over Gil Turner

MONTREAL (AP) — Ralph Dupas of New Orleans had too many legs and arms for Gil Turner of Philadelphia Wednesday night. The young Cajun boxer, on the move from start to finish, shot a steady stream of hooks and jabs to win a unanimous decision.

The 10-round welterweight bout, telecast nationally in the United States, attracted only about 1,800 in Montreal Forum. Dupas gave away 7½ pounds, weighing 144½ to Turner's 152.

Dupas' shiftiness and speed confused the slower moving Philadelphian, whose attack was limited almost solely to swinging body blows that didn't appear to bother Dupas.

Dupas was such a shadow-like moving target that Turner never figured him out, let alone getting him stationary long enough to do much damage.

Dupas' snapping left the sharp right hooks seemed to come from all directions on Turner, who was in trouble in the sixth and eighth rounds and appeared bewildered and uncertain. Dupas tried to set up his opponent for a knockout in the sixth but lacked the power to end the fight.

Dupas went into the fight the favorite although currently ranked No. 6, against No. 3 for Turner, in the National Boxing Assn. welterweight rankings. Dupas was 23 years old Monday. Turner is 27.

High Court Gets Dodger Squabble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — That hassle over giving the Los Angeles Dodgers a baseball park site in Chavez Ravine is going to be heard by the California Supreme Court.

The high court Wednesday announced it would hear arguments on the case in Sacramento Nov. 6.

The court issued a writ of prohibition halting proceedings in Los Angeles Superior Court where Judge Arnold Prager ruled July 14 a contract under which Los Angeles would donate the land to the Dodgers was invalid.

Surgery Successful On Herrnstein's Knee

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—An operation Wednesday to repair torn tendons in the left knee of Michigan football fullback John Herrnstein was pronounced successful by doctors at the University Medical Center. Herrnstein, 20, of Chillicothe, Ohio, will be out for the remainder of the football season but will be able to resume his baseball career next spring, doctors said. He is a pitcher and outfielder.

The first dome car was placed in service on the Burlington railroad between Chicago and Minneapolis, on July 23, 1945.

Episcopalians To Modernize Sunday School

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A new look in Sunday school teaching—centered on childhood experiences and not just Bible verses—has firm support from the Episcopal general convention.

The program has been under fire from some elements in the church as slighting scriptural details.

But a move in the church's House of Deputies Wednesday to junk the whole technique, was overwhelmingly defeated, and authorization was given to continue developing and improving the new method.

The sharpest attack on it came from A. Leon Huddleston of Memphis, Tenn., who said, "Group discussion of random subjects has been substituted for systematic instruction in the Christian faith."

He called for "more reliance on the historic doctrines of the church rather than on existentialist philosophy" and "group dynamics."

The program — known as the Seabury Series — seeks to adjust Biblical content and creeds to a child's age level and experiences —rather than just putting them in their fixed form.

It's been called a kind of religious progressive education.

"There's no point in teaching a 5-year-old child that it's wrong to commit adultery," said the Rev. John Heuss of New York, in defending the program.

Peter Day of Milwaukee said it is revitalizing the church and "converting more souls per dollar spent than any other missionary work in the church."

Knowland Says Opponent Tied To Gangster

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland, GOP candidate for governor, sought Wednesday night to link Democratic National Committeeman Paul Ziffren of Los Angeles with a dead Chicago gangster and "the machine political boss" of the Illinois city.

The Senate minority leader then told a Republican rally that Ziffren is "one of the chief supporters" of Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown's "Campaign to capture the governorship of California and with it the control of the executive structure of our state government."

Knowland charged Ziffren is the "political architect behind my opponent for governor," Democrat Brown. He cited testimony from the Kefauver committee crime report indicating Ziffren had business dealings with Alex Louis Greenberg, slain in Chicago Dec. 8, 1955.

In Los Angeles, Ziffren told the San Francisco Chronicle by telephone, "This sounds to me like another Joe Kamp pamphlet of absurdities."

Episcopalians To Modernize Sunday School

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A new look in Sunday school teaching—centered on childhood experiences and not just Bible verses—has firm support from the Episcopal general convention.

The program has been under fire from some elements in the church as slighting scriptural details.

But a move in the church's House of Deputies Wednesday to junk the whole technique, was overwhelmingly defeated, and authorization was given to continue developing and improving the new method.

The sharpest attack on it came from A. Leon Huddleston of Memphis, Tenn., who said, "Group discussion of random subjects has been substituted for systematic instruction in the Christian faith."

He called for "more reliance on the historic doctrines of the church rather than on existentialist philosophy" and "group dynamics."

The program — known as the Seabury Series — seeks to adjust Biblical content and creeds to a child's age level and experiences—rather than just putting them in their fixed form.

It's been called a kind of religious progressive education.

"There's no point in teaching a 5-year-old child that it's wrong to commit adultery," said the Rev. John Heuss of New York, in defending the program.

Peter Day of Milwaukee said it is revitalizing the church and "converting more souls per dollar spent than any other missionary work in the church."

Knowland Says Opponent Tied To Gangster

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sen. William F. Knowland, GOP candidate for governor, sought Wednesday night to link Democratic National Committeeman Paul Ziffren of Los Angeles with a dead Chicago gangster and "the machine political boss" of the Illinois city.

The Senate minority leader then told a Republican rally that Ziffren is "one of the chief supporters" of Atty. Gen. Edmund G. Brown's "Campaign to capture the governorship of California and with it the control of the executive structure of our state government."

Knowland charged Ziffren is the "political architect behind my opponent for governor," Democrat Brown. He cited testimony from the Kefauver committee crime report indicating Ziffren had business dealings with Alex Louis Greenberg, slain in Chicago Dec. 8, 1955.

In Los Angeles, Ziffren told the San Francisco Chronicle by telephone, "This sounds to me like another Joe Kamp pamphlet of absurdities."

New Ohio Water Commission with Wide Power Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Water Survey Committee will recommend to Gov. C. William O'Neill establishment of an Ohio water commission with broad regulatory powers on water conservation and management.

The commission would:

Study and review all developments in watersheds on water and water resources.

Publicly report findings and recommendations.

Prohibit state departments and local subdivisions from taking any action contrary to commission's recommendations.

Political divisions and private parties, however, would have the right to be heard on any proposed action conflicting with the commission's recommendations.

The nine - member committee was appointed by O'Neill under legislative authority to make a study of water conservation and management.

Kent State Bids OKd

KENT, Ohio (AP)—Trustees of Kent State University Wednesday approved bids and fees of $3,100,000 for construction by July, 1960, of a music and speech center. The building will include an auditorium and a recital hall.

New Ohio Water Commission with Wide Power Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Water Survey Committee will recommend to Gov. C. William O'Neill establishment of an Ohio water commission with broad regulatory powers on water conservation and management.

The commission would:

Study and review all developments in watersheds on water and water resources.

Publicly report findings and recommendations.

Prohibit state departments and local subdivisions from taking any action contrary to commission's recommendations.

Political divisions and private parties, however, would have the right to be heard on any proposed action conflicting with the commission's recommendations.

The nine - member committee was appointed by O'Neill under legislative authority to make a study of water conservation and management.

Levy Endorsed By Central PTA

School Projector Purchase Authorized

Unanimous endorsement was given the one-mill city school levy, to be voted on Nov. 4, by the Central School Parent-Teacher Assn. at its meeting Wednesday night in the high school auditorium.

The action was taken after Fred Rost, school board clerk-treasurer, had explained that the levy is needed to guarantee continuance of the present school program.

He emphasized, however, that the money the levy would produce would not provide all the things that had to be shelved after the defeat of a larger levy at the last election.

Rost also explained that Washington C. H. schools are being upgraded and that the reports for this six-week period will reflect the higher standard. Copies of the new grading system were made available to the parents.

THIS FIRST meeting of the school year was conducted by the president, Dustin Girton.

During the business session, at which several committee reports were made, Richard Whiteside was delegated to buy a projector needed by the school. He was instructed to arrange for deferred payments.

Need for the proposal of a two-mill levy for city storm relief sewers was explained by James F. Parkinson, former city manager. It would not increase taxes, he said, because it would replace a two-mill levy which expires this year.

He stressed that this storm relief sewer levy proposal should not be confused with sewer proposals for specific areas of the city. He also said the storm relief sewer proposal has no connection with the annexation proposal.

Awards were presented to members of two 4-H clubs — the Jolly Jumpers and Busy Beavers, by County Agent Phil Grover and Mrs. Norris Highfield. The boys and girls stepped forward to receive their checks and certificates for the project exhibits at the Fair last July.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by Judge and Mrs. Robert L. Brubaker, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Perrill, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Miller and Mr. and Mrs. James Marvin.

Neither Driver Cited After Car Collision

Both drivers involved in a collision at Columbus Ave. and Delaware St. at 1:25 p. m. Wednesday insisted to police that they had the green light.

Everett L. Wilson, 64, of 219 W. Oak St., and Amor P. Smith, 70, Springfield, were the drivers. Both cars were slightly damaged. Neither driver was cited.

Cigarette Blamed For Fire in Airway

A small fire in the airway under the sidewalk in front of the Gossard Jewelry Store at 9:11 p. m. Wednesday was blamed by firemen on a cigarette dropped through hole in the sidewalk.

A chair and some papers in the area which adjoins the Noon Barber Shop in the basement of the Fayette Hotel building, were set afire. It took firemen 45 minutes to put out the blaze. No serious damage was reported.

Firemen theorized the cigarette had been dropped through a hole where one of the small round glass blocks which privide light for the area, had come out of the concrete slab of the sidewalk.

Mute Brothers Lose Pleas to Escape Death

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Joseph and Bert Buza, deaf-mute brothers, have lost their court battle to escape death in the Ohio electric chair.

The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday refused to review their appeal from a murder conviction and set Nov. 14 as their execution date.

The brothers previously had been scheduled to die Oct. 1 for the knife-slaying of Margaret Denham, 76, operator of a filling station-store in Barton (Belmont County) on April 10, 1957.

Your Germs May Be Used In Cold Fight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special vaccines made from your own germs may prevent your common cold from getting complicated.

Sucking antibiotic lozenges may have the same effect.

Dr. J. Morrison Ritchie, director of the Public Health Laboratory, Birkenhead, England, told about it Wednesday at the sixth annual Symposium on Antibiotics.

He described tests held in the winter of 1955-1956 to test the value of "autogenous vaccines" in the prevention of bacterial complications in the common cold.

The vaccines were made from microbes taken from nose and throat areas of volunteers at the time they showed the first sign of a cold. Then the vaccine was administered to the volunteers once a week during the winter. Another group of volunteers received no vaccine.

Complicated colds developed five times more frequently in the untreated group than in the treated, Ritchie said.

The following winter, similar success followed use of antibiotic lozenges, administered to a group of 100 people suspected of having colds. Only four of them developed a complicated cold compared with 26 out of 100 in an untreated group.

Ritchie said antibiotics of the tetracycline class were chosen for the tests.

Rt. 22 Detour Bridge Going Up

Construction of a run - around bridge, south of the old bridge on Route 22 over the North Fork of Paint Creek was started Friday, according to William Markley, superintendent of the Fayette County State Highway Department.

The run - around will be used as a detour until a new bridge is built to replace the present span which was weakened when a circus truck caved in the right side on Aug. 8. The Union Bridge Co., Mt. Liberty, will construct the bridge and change the grade of the approaches. The company was the low bidder ($192,841) on the new 44-foot bridge.

REFERRING to the proposed Right-to-Work amendment, the legislative candidate said: "This issue was put on the ballot by initiative petitions signed by members of both political parties. If the amendment passes, there is no enabling legislation required; if it fails, the Legislature certainly will not touch the matter in the next session. I feel, therefore, that this nonpartisan issue has no place in partisan politics."

Referring to the school controversy, Schwart said:

"The local school issue involving Miami Trace, the RPA and others is strictly a nonpartisan issue. Since I am a partisan candidate running on the Republican ticket, I feel that this issue has no place in this political race, and I am not taking any stand on it.

"If elected, I will represent, in the Legislature, members of the RPA, members of the Committee for the Advancement of Education in Fayette County, Miami Trace supporters and every other Fayette Countian in equal degree—with this reservation: I will not introduce any school legislation, unless it is first approved by BOTH the city and county boards of education until this local situation has been resolved. I will expect, however, all boards to act in good faith."

Schwart expressed his pride in the accomplishments of Republican national and state administrations and pledged his support for the Republican state platform which he helped draw.

* * *

HE SAID he would support continuation and improvement of the healthy climate for industry and labor in Ohio.

"I expect to WORK at this job", he declared as applause swept the room.

MRS. ELMER S. BARRETT, Chillicothe, spoke in the interests of her husband's campaign for Congress from the Sixth District and urged Republicans to get out the vote in order to prevent minority rule.

State Sen. Lowell D. Fess, Yellow Springs, a legislator for 14 years, praised the achievements of the O'Neill administration and told the audience that he is proud to have shared in the progress made during the past two years.

Judge Roscoe G. Hornbeck, London, Republican candidate to succeed himself on the Second District Court of Appeals, spoke briefly, as did County Auditor Harry R. Allen and County Commissioner Clifford E. Hughes, unopposed for reelection this year.

Mrs. Pearl Bailey, Columbus, associated with the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, also praised the record of the O'Neill administration.

Mrs. William Saxbe, Mechanicsburg, greeted the audience in behalf of her husband, Ohio's attorney general; Mrs. Norman Lacey, Columbus, represented State Treasurer Roger Tracy, and W. T. Smith, Columbus, spoke briefly for Saxbe.

MOST OTHER state and district candidates were attending a rally in Portsmouth.

Others introduced were Mrs. Donna Wagner, district committeewoman, who expressed her appreciation for support at the May primary, and Miss Mildred Smith, Fayette County chairwoman.

Mrs. Sheeley announced that all major club business would be postponed until the next meeting which will be held at 8 p. m. Nov. 10, in the Common Pleas courtroom, but Mrs. Lucille Bell was designated secretary pro-tem, replacing Mrs. Sarah Whiteside, resigned.

Mrs. Bernice Janes, Mrs. C. S. Kelley, Mrs. Miriam Bush and Mrs. Doris Wipert were chosen as a nominating committee, with Mrs. Janes as chairman.

Mrs. Kelley gave the invocation and Mrs. Wipert accompanied group singing.

O'NEILL CHAIRWOMAN — Mrs. Doris Wipert, CCC Highway west, has accepted the post of chairwoman of the O'Neill for Governor Club in Fayette County. Mrs. Wipert, a free-lance and Community Institute lecturer for the past 12 years, spoke briefly at a dinner meeting of the Fayette County Women's Republican Club Wednesday night, pointing out that she is accepting memberships in the club supporting the Ohio governor for reelection. Mrs. Wipert's husband Roy E., is a well known Fayette County farmer.

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — City Council has passed a resolution opposing the issue to regulate labor contracts in Ohio by a vote of 6-3.

Marchant Heading Barrett Committee

County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant has been named chairman of the Fayette County Committee which will sponsor and promote the campaign of Elmer S. Barrett of Chillicothe, Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixth Ohio district.

Barrett, 45, is a consulting engineer and has had a broad experience in this line of work. He formerly was president of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers and is registered to practice in 15 states.

He is a former division engineer for the Ohio Department of Highways, was formerly county engineer in both Highland and Ross counties, for a number of years was on the engineering staff of the Pennsylvania Railroad and for some time was identified with the U. S. Navy Ordance Plant in an engineering capacity.

He is at present a director of the Chamber of Commerce in his home city and also in the National Society of Professional Engineers. He is a graduate of both Miami University and received his BCE degree at Ohio State University.

He is also a member of many organizations of a civic nature and has been active in all of them.

8:30 p. m. Curfew Ordered By Mayor of Greenfield

GREENFIELD — Mayor Robert J. Smith ordered a curfew Wednesday for all boys and girls under 18. It will be in effect until Oct. 31.

Smith said police have orders to enforce the 8:30 p. m. deadline. He said the curfew would not apply to children attending school and church activities, but they must go directly home from such functions.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special vaccines made from your own germs may prevent your common cold from getting complicated.

Sucking antibiotic lozenges may have the same effect.

Dr. J. Morrison Ritchie, director of the Public Health Laboratory, Birkenhead, England, told about it Wednesday at the sixth annual Symposium on Antibiotics.

He described tests held in the winter of 1955-1956 to test the value of "autogenous vaccines" in the prevention of bacterial complications in the common cold.

The vaccines were made from microbes taken from nose and throat areas of volunteers at the time they showed the first sign of a cold. Then the vaccine was administered to the volunteers once a week during the winter. Another group of volunteers received no vaccine.

Complicated colds developed five times more frequently in the untreated group than in the treated, Ritchie said.

The following winter, similar success followed use of antibiotic lozenges, administered to a group of 100 people suspected of having colds. Only four of them developed a complicated cold compared with 26 out of 100 in an untreated group.

Ritchie said antibiotics of the tetracycline class were chosen for the tests.

Rt. 22 Detour Bridge Going Up

Construction of a run - around bridge, south of the old bridge on Route 22 over the North Fork of Paint Creek was started Friday, according to William Markley, superintendent of the Fayette County State Highway Department.

The run - around will be used as a detour until a new bridge is built to replace the present span which was weakened when a circus truck caved in the right side on Aug. 8. The Union Bridge Co., Mt. Liberty, will construct the bridge and change the grade of the approaches. The company was the low bidder ($192,541) on the new 44-foot bridge.

Youth Club Activities

NEW BLUE BIRD GROUP

The third grade girls at Belle Aire School organized a Blue Bird group Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Junior Campbell is the new leader and Mrs. Robert Climer is assistant leader.

The girls chose the name "Belle Aire Singing Blue Birds" for the name of their club.

Officers were elected and committee chairmen were appointed: Cathy Climer, president; Linda Merritt, vice president; Linda Wagoner, secretary; Patty Jo Palmer, treasurer; and Linda Sowers, news reporter; Rosemary Cornell and Vicki Patch, flower committee; Judy Campbell, card committee; Paula Kay Stepter, refreshments; Kandy Lynn Rudolph, greeting; Vicki Bandy and Cassandra Rohde, program; and Cathy Trimmer and Theresa Bruice, ways and means committee.

Mrs. Victor Rhode and Mrs. Howard Wagoner are the sponsors.

The group played games and sang several songs.

REFERRING to the proposed Right-to-Work amendment, the legislative candidate said: "This issue was put on the ballot by initiative petitions signed by members of both political parties. If the amendment passes, there is no enabling legislation required; if it fails, the Legislature certainly will not touch the matter in the next session. I feel, therefore, that this nonpartisan issue has no place in partisan politics."

Referring to the school controversy, Schwart said:

"The local school issue involving Miami Trace, the RPA and others is strictly a nonpartisan issue. Since I am a partisan candidate running on the Republican ticket, I feel that this issue has no place in this political race, and I am not taking any stand on it.

"If elected, I will represent, in the Legislature, members of the RPA, members of the Committee for the Advancement of Education in Fayette County, Miami Trace supporters and every other Fayette Countian in equal degree—with this reservation: I will not introduce any school legislation, unless it is first approved by BOTH the city and county boards of education until this local sitution has been resolved. I will expect, however, all boards to act in good faith."

Schwart expressed his pride in the accomplishments of Republican national and state administrations and pledged his support for the Republican state platform which he helped draw.

MOST OTHER state and district candidates were attending a rally in Portsmouth.

Others introduced were Mrs. Donna Wagner, district committeewoman, who expressed her appreciation for support at the May primary, and Miss Mildred Smith, Fayette County chairwoman.

Mrs. Sheeley announced that all major club business would be postponed until the next meeting which will be held at 8 p. m. Nov. 10, in the Common Pleas courtroom, but Mrs. Lucille Bell was designated secretary pro-tem, replacing Mrs. Sarah Whiteside, resigned.

Mrs. Bernice Janes, Mrs. C. S. Kelley, Mrs. Miriam Bush and Mrs. Doris Wipert were chosen as a nominating committee, with Mrs. Janes as chairman.

Mrs. Kelley gave the invocation and Mrs. Wipert accompanied group singing.

O'NEILL CHAIRWOMAN — Mrs. Doris Wipert, CCC Highway west, has accepted the post of chairwoman of the O'Neill for Governor Club in Fayette County. Mrs. Wipert, a free-lance and Community Institute lecturer for the past 12 years, spoke briefly at a dinner meeting of the Fayette County Women's Republican Club Wednesday night, pointing out that she is accepting memberships in the club supporting the Ohio governor for reelection. Mrs. Wipert's husband Roy E., is a well known Fayette County farmer.

Toledo Opposes RTW

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — City Council has passed a resolution opposing the issue to regulate labor contracts in Ohio by a vote of 6-3.

Marchant Heading Barrett Committee

County Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant has been named chairman of the Fayette County Committee which will sponsor and promote the campaign of Elmer S. Barrett of Chillicothe, Republican candidate for Congress in the Sixth Ohio district.

Barrett, 45, is a consulting engineer and has had a broad experience in this line of work. He formerly was president of the Ohio Society of Professional Engineers and is registered to practice in 15 states.

He is a former division engineer for the Ohio Department of Highways, was formerly county engineer in both Highland and Ross counties, for a number of years was on the engineering staff of the Pennsylvania Railroad and for some time was identified with the U. S. Navy Ordance Plant in an engineering capacity.

He is at present a director of the Chamber of Commerce in his home city and also in the National Society of Professional Engineers. He is a graduate of both Miami University and received his BCE degree at Ohio State University.

He is also a member of many organizations of a civic nature and has been active in all of them.

8:30 p. m. Curfew Ordered By Mayor of Greenfield

GREENFIELD — Mayor Robert J. Smith ordered a curfew Wednesday for all boys and girls under 18. It will be in effect until Oct. 31.

Smith said police have orders to enforce the 8:30 p. m. deadline. He said the curfew would not apply to children attending school and church activities, but they must go directly home from such functions.
